46 REPORTED LOST
WHEN QUICK FLOOD SWEEPS KENTUCKY
TOWNS AT NIGHT

38 Perish at Morehead and Eight at Jackson When Mountain Streams Overflow Suddenly After Cloudburst.

1000 HOMELESS, SAYS
RED CROSS OFFICIAL

Stores, Homes and Schools Swept Away—Many Bodies Recovered—"All Available WPA" Aid Is Sought.

MOREHEAD, Ky., July 5 (AP).—Forty-six persons today were reported drowned in floods that followed quickly a night cloudburst and swept creeks and rivers out of their banks in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

Thirty-eight of the dead were listed here by Postmaster W. E. Cougher.

The State Board of Health at Louisville said it had been informed at least eight were drowned when a wall of water rushed down the gorge of the Kentucky River at Jackson in Breathitt County.

Bridges, homes, stores and school buildings were swept away, the department said.

Mrs. N. L. Wells, chairman of the Rowan County Red Cross, said the loss of life might reach 100. She also estimated 1000 persons had lost their homes.

Six Drowned Trying to Flee. Mrs. Curt Salvers and her children, Mrs. Salvers' mother, and her brother were drowned as they were attempting to start an automobile in the car was overturned and washed several hundred feet.

No students of Morehead Teachers' College, located here, were in the flood.

Farmers, a village seven miles west of here, was completely cut off, and Clearfield, a factory town of 500, on the opposite side of Triplett Creek from Morehead, was believed to have suffered heavily.

Rescuers were unable to cross the swift current to reach the community.

Water on Morehead's main thoroughfare varied in depth from four to 10 feet at the peak of the flood. Bill McClain, fireman at the State Teachers' College, estimated the water rose 10 to 15 feet in less than 30 minutes.

Unable to Save His Children. Ted Sparkman, whose four children perished, said the torrent swept his house from its foundation.

"I grabbed my wife," Sparkman related, "and we ran to the door. The force of the water swept us into the torrent and we were sucked into the street. A few seconds later our house swept by and we were unable to do anything for our children. We could hear their cries as our house went by."

Sparkman and his wife were rescued from a tree top at 6:30 a. m. by boatmen.

Rescuers said between 50 and 75 persons were taken from tree tops along the banks of the creek.

Aid of WPA Sought. Mayor Warren C. Lupton wired Arthur Gamble, WPA district director at Paintsville, 70 miles from here, asking for "all WPA help available." He said "sanitary conditions are the worst possible."

A delivery truck driver said highway bridges east of here were washed out and that the railroad tracks had been swept away on both sides of the town.

The American Red Cross ordered Mrs. Sheridan Connolly, field representative from Lexington, Ky., into the flooded town to set up relief offices.

Crutcher estimated that the flood, which swept as residents of this town of 2500 slept, had washed at least 100 houses from their foundations.

At Cincinnati, W. C. Devereaux, United States meteorologist, reported heavy rains throughout northern and eastern Kentucky. The Licking River at Farmers, he said, rose 19.8 feet in the 24 hours ending at 8 a. m.

Gov. A. B. Chandler at Frankfort ordered State patrolmen and State highway emergency crews into the stricken counties.

Second Disaster in Day. The flood was the second disaster to strike Morehead in 24 hours. Yesterday fire threatened to sweep the business district. Alf Caskey, owner of the property damaged, estimated his loss at $75,000.

The bodies of the following had been recovered: Mrs. George Bog-

ANNENBERG'S LAWYER
CITED BY GRAND JURY

Court Asked to Require Him to Produce Documents in Income Tax Case.

CHICAGO, July 5 (AP).—M. L. Annenberg's attorney and four other lawyers were accused by a Federal grand jury today of having refused to surrender certain documents for the investigation of the income tax of the millionaire newspaper and publishing publisher.

William J. Campbell, United States District Attorney, made the jury's presentation before United States District Judge James H. Wilkerson. He said outside of court that if the notice were upheld the attorneys would have to comply with the subpoenas or face citation for contempt.

Judge Wilkerson said he would rule on the presentation tomorrow. Those named were Weymouth Kirkland, Chicago, who is representing Annenberg in the tax inquiry, and Charles C. Cullen, James A. Hamilton Jr., Charles Schwartz and Herbert Frohlich, New York lawyers.

Campbell said the documents originally were held by Nathan Burkan and Thomas E. McEntegart, both of New York, who had been attorneys for Annenberg. After their deaths, Cullen and Hamilton took over McEntegart's law office, and Schwartz and Frohlich took over Burkan's. Campbell said the firm transferred some records to Kirkland, and that this constituted a waiver of confidentiality, laying them open to scrutiny by the jurors. Kirkland disagreed.

The brief stated also that Annenberg and Kirkland appeared before Attorney-General Frank Murphy in Washington and told him that if there were errors in tax returns they were the result of following the advice of McEntegart and Burkan.

FRENCH ARMY MAN AND ITALIAN GIRL
HELD IN SPY CASE

Another Woman Said to Have Crossed Border With Defense Secrets.

GRENOBLE, France, July 5 (AP).—A young French army officer and an Italian girl were held by special agents last night for questioning after the flight of another Italian girl across the frontier with what was thought to be a suitcase full of French defense secrets.

The girl who got away was described as a statuesque blonde of about 25 years with "flashing black eyes." The authorities said an unsuspecting friend, a Grenoble business man, was persuaded to drive her to the frontier.

There, the business man recounted, an automobile awaited her and she dashed across the border into Italy, leaving him with a "scornful smile."

The girl who was held, identified as the army officer's friend, was thought by police to have been used only as a decoy to make friends with young officers of a garrison who might have worthwhile military information.

It was one of these junior officers, police said, who was arrested after the get-away of one of the two girls.

KANSAS CITY GRAND JURY

Remains Only Three Minutes in Payroll Posing Inquiry; McElroy's Records Obtained.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 5 (AP).—E. Mont Reilly, former Republican Governor of Puerto Rico, and Michael D. Waters, discharged Commissioner of Street Cleaning, were summoned as witnesses today by a county grand jury investigating alleged payroll padding on the Public Works Department.

A deputy sheriff took Reilly to the grand jury room and he remained there about three minutes.

Testimony at a City Court of Inquiry disclosed that pay checks issued to names on the list of street cleaning employees had gone into the hands of Riley, a friend of Boss Tom Pendergast, who conducted a small loan business across the street from the courthouse.

H. F. McElroy's records of his city manager's emergency fund from Oct. 25, 1937, to April 13, 1939, when he resigned under fire, today were turned over to City Counselor Sam C. Blair.

Associated Gas & Electric Pays U. S. $3,000,000, Gets 30 Months on Balance.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—The Associated Gas & Electric Utility System settled today for $8,700,000 an estimated $80,000,000 worth of delinquent Federal tax claims.

The system, one of the largest utility holding companies in the country, cleaned up tax disputes covering the years 1927-33, inclusive, by the settlement.

It paid $3,000,000 in cash and won permission to pay the balance within 30 months. The down payment, officials explained, was borrowed by the company after the Treasury lifted tax liens to enable the system to offer lenders better security.

The tax controversy arose over differing interpretations of deductions from income claimed by the system because of various inter-company transactions and because of the shrinkage in the market value of company securities during the depression.

MISSING JUSTICE CRATER

Body Cremated, She Asserts, in Suit to Recover Double Indemnity Insurance.

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP).—The widow of Joseph Crater, former Justice of the New York Supreme Court, began suit today to collect $60,000 double indemnity on insurance policies by declaring her belief Justice Crater died by "external, violent or accidental means" and that his body was "disposed of by cremation" or other means.

The widow, now Mrs. Stella M. Kunz, added her belief that the jurist died "on or about" the day he disappeared—almost nine years ago.

Justice Crater's disappearance was one of the major developments in a 1930 New York investigation.

As recently as last May 11, Mrs. Kunz expressed doubt as to what happened to Justice Crater when he disappeared Aug. 6, 1930.

Reduction From 2,600,000 Workers Necessary to Stay Within Appropriation, Commissioner Says.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—Col. F. C. Harrington, Work Projects Commissioner, ordered the July WPA payroll cut today from 2,600,000 to 2,400,000 persons to keep within limits set by congressional relief appropriations.

Harrington said the reduction was the first move to trim rolls to a monthly average of 2,047,000 by next June 30. The 1939 fiscal year average was 2,900,000 workers.

The July quota was divided as follows: General WPA state projects, 2,266,845; white collar projects, 33,155 and miscellaneous employees assigned to other Federal agencies, 100,000.

The Missouri rolls will be cut by 30,000 and Illinois by 11,000. Missouri's July quota is 80,000.

ORDER REMOVING
EX-GOV. CAULFIELD
AS TRUSTEE VOIDED

Supreme Court Permanently Bars Judge Sartorius From Enforcing First National Co. Decree.

FINDS 'NO MERIT'
IN THE CHARGES

Ouster of Members From Participation Certificate Holders' Committee Also Upset.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 5. — Judge Eugene J. Sartorius of St. Louis Circuit Court was barred permanently from enforcing orders removing former Gov. Henry S. Caulfield as a co-trustee of the First National Co., now in liquidation, and removing members of a committee for holders of the firm's investment participation certificates, in rulings today by the Missouri Supreme Court en banc.

The court made absolute three provisional rules of prohibition it issued last Feb. 7. In ruling on each of the writs the court held that Judge Sartorius had exceeded his jurisdiction and declared the removal orders void.

Two of the writs of prohibition, both affecting the attempted ouster of Caulfield, were sought by Caulfield and the First National Bank in St. Louis, which is the other co-trustee of the First National Co., investment affiliate of the bank.

The third writ was sought by five of the certificate owners, acting for themselves and others as a class, to block the attempted removal of the committee members, who were S. C. McCluney, Jesse S. Skinner, H. D. McBride and Eugene M. Funsten.

The Supreme Court found "no merit" in the charges and grounds advanced for the removal order against Caulfield.

Facts "Scantily Set Forth." In making final the writ blocking the removal order against the committee members, the court said the facts on which Judge Sartorius based "this general finding of unworthiness are scantily set forth in his decree." The court added "it seems passing strange that, if the members of the committee are so unworthy, 78 per cent and more of the beneficial owners of certificates desire to retain them and only a fraction of 1 per cent are clamoring for their removal."

The three opinions making final the writs were written by Judge Albert M. Clark. All of the other judges of court en banc concurred except Judge Charles T. Hays, absent because of illness.

Both orders were issued by Judge Sartorius last September when he appointed Leo G. Desobry as Caulfield's successor. As new members of the committee to succeed those removed, he appointed Edwin B. Meisner, Roy E. Niemann, Joseph L. Reine and Carl G. Stifel. Louis E. Yeckel was appointed to a vacancy.

Caulfield was removed for alleged impropriety in accepting an additional fee of $10,000 from the First National Bank, aside from his regular compensation of $500 a month paid by the bank, as fixed by the Circuit Court. Judge Sartorius held that in view of the case charges against the bank, the motion on which Caulfield was appointed, his acceptance of the additional fee from the bank was improper and placed him under obligations to the bank.

The motion on which Caulfield was removed was filed by Hyman G. Stein, attorney for holders of $17,500 of the First National company's $9,577,500 of participation certificates. The co-trustees of the company have appealed to the Supreme Court from a $300,000 fee allowed to Stein in the case by Circuit Judge John W. Joynt, contending he should be paid by his clients and not from the trust estate.

Judge Clark's opinion.

He said the charges against the bank were pending when Caulfield was appointed to act as co-trustee with the bank, and were still pending before Judge Sartorius when he ordered removal of Caulfield and appointed a successor to act with the bank. The responsibility, if any, for bringing the charges to trial, Judge Clark said, "rests upon those who make them."

The motion for removal did not charge, and Judge Sartorius did not find, Judge Clark said, that the additional fee paid to Caulfield by

SOVIET NEGOTIATIONS
RUN INTO NEW DELAY

Moscow Reported Objecting to Proposal to Guarantee Netherlands and Switzerland.

LONDON, July 5 (AP).—Richard Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the House of Commons today that Britain was obligated to resist aggression against Poland only in the event that there was a "clear threat" to Poland's independence.

Asked if Britain's policy included resistance to any possible attempt to change the status of the Free City of Danzig, Butler referred his questioner to the "terms of our pledge to Poland, which Great Britain will certainly fulfill."

The British-French undertaking, as announced last March 31 by Prime Minister Chamberlain, is to lend "all support in their power" to Poland "in the event of any action which clearly threatened Polish independence and which the Polish Government accordingly considered vital to resist with their national forces."

Chamberlain shortly before had declared: "His Majesty's Government will not fail to take any steps which may seem to them necessary and desirable to make their attitude absolutely clear."

"This has already been stated with precision in recent speeches by ministers."

Despite Chamberlain's statement, some of his hearers recalled that neither he nor Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax had mentioned the Danzig situation specifically in any of their recent speeches nor been more specific concerning Britain's pledge to aid Poland if its independence were threatened.

Other definitions of the British stand have not been consistent. On Saturday a Foreign Office spokesman declined to say that a Nazi putsch in Danzig "would necessarily bring British guarantees into force." On Sunday, Foreign Office sources said Poland, Britain and France had agreed to resist any effort to change the status of the Free City, either from within or without. This statement has not been repeated by either Chamberlain or Halifax.

Moscow Negotiations. The Prime Minister declined to give details of what issues are obstructing Soviet Russia's participation in the British-French mutual assistance front, but declared Moscow's reactions were being studied jointly by Britain and France.

On the subject of Danzig, Laborite F. S. Cocks pressed Butler for a more definite answer, asking whether he could "say at least whether, if Poland suffers an act of aggression, all our forces would be immediately put at her disposal?"

Butler replied that Cocks "will remember that the terms of the guarantee which we gave to Poland referred to a very clear threat to her independence."

Replying to a question, Butler said: "Certain military preparations which have been reported would appear to constitute a breach" of Article V of the League of Nations Danzig statute, which prohibits militarization of the Free City.

Then Cocks asked: "Do the British Government propose to make a demarche?" he replied.

"At the present we are in touch with these Governments (French and Polish) on all aspects of the matter, and I cannot say more at the moment."

Chamberlain Questioned. Chamberlain refused to answer other questions, whether he would consider strengthening the Cabinet to impress the German Government and whether he could "do something better than the broadcast" which he gave Sunday.

In this broadcast he made only an indirect reference to Danzig when he said that Britain was determined to fulfill its pledges.

Chamberlain's statement that Britain would take necessary steps to make its attitude clear was in answer to a suggestion by Vyvyan Adams, Conservative, that Britain mobilize its fleet.

Adams, who has raised the same question in the past, said:

HITLER DROPS TITLE

'Reichskanzler' Suggested the Politician, Whereas He Is 'Beloved Leader.'

BERLIN, July 5 (AP).—Adolf Hitler has shortened his official title from "Der Fuehrer und Reichskanzler" (the leader and Reich's Chancellor) to just "Der Fuehrer."

Henceforth he will sign "Der Fuehrer," and newspapers, official documents and public speakers will refer to him as such.

The reason given for the change was:

"The title of Chancellor gave Hitler an air of being a functionary or politician, whereas he is the beloved leader of his people."

This conforms to Fascism's practice of referring to Benito Mussolini as "Il Duce" (the leader).

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP).—The promise of a "delicious steaming hot plate of beef stew" today lured a man from a precarious perch on the slanting roof of his four-story home in Brooklyn.

Police said Elbert Vivian Smith, 33 years old, who had been in poor health, sat for 90 minutes, threatening to leap to the sidewalk 70 feet below, while his wife and grandmother, police, and friends tried to dissuade him.

It was his grandmother, Mrs. John Busch, who finally persuaded Smith to enter the house by urging him to get the beef stew "before it gets cold."

Smith had returned from a health farm earlier in the day.

Reed of Kansas Says Upper Chamber Conferees Gave Up "Without Firing Shot" — Murphy Opinion Assailed.

By RICHARD L. STOKES, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Having admitted that the vote would probably be "extremely close," Senator Austin (Rep., Vermont), opened the postponed debate on the conference version of the monetary bill this morning by attacking the constitutionality of statutes under which for nearly six years President Roosevelt has held power to fix the value of money. Austin is acting as Minority Leader owing to the illness of Senator McNary of Oregon.

A long series of Supreme Court decisions, Austin asserted, has declared that the power vested in Congress by the Constitution "to coin money and regulate the value thereof" is one of "highest magnitude." All primary powers must be performed by the Congress itself, Austin maintained, and under no circumstances may be transferred to any other agency. He quoted a decision of John Marshall that "Congress cannot delegate powers that are exclusively legislative."

An Emergency Measure. "This authority was originally conferred on the President," Austin asserted, "as an emergency measure, under a cloud of grave doubt and for a limited

NAZI PAPER SAYS ROOSEVELT ADDS TO DANGER OF WAR

Semi-Official Commentary
Accuses Him of Trying to Line Up U. S. With 'Encirclement Front.'

NEUTRALITY BILL
BASIS OF REMARKS

President, Insistent on Removal of Restrictions on Arms Sale, Confers With Hull.

BERLIN, July 5 (AP).—A semi-official Nazi commentary, addressing itself to the people of the United States, said tonight that "the intention of Roosevelt to line up America in the encirclement front does not lessen the danger of a world war, but on the contrary, increases it."

Deutsche Dienst, distributed by the official German news agency, gave this reaction to President Roosevelt's comment yesterday concerning the action of the United States House of Representatives in writing in a modified arms embargo into the American neutrality law.

Deutsche Dienst said that to maintain Germany welcomed the action was a "biased falsification." The service added that in making his statements at his Fourth of July press conference the President "perhaps was under pressure of the many exploding firecrackers."

Roosevelt was painting "war ghosts on the wall," the service said, and "cast suspicion above all on Congressmen as disguised Nazis and culprits for the next World War."

President Roosevelt, Back in Capitol, Calls in Hull.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—President Roosevelt returned to Washington by special train today, bent on getting from Congress a neutrality bill without restrictions on sales of arms.

Secretary of State Hull had luncheon at the White House and discussed neutrality legislation with the President.

An uncompromising Presidential attitude on two of the toughest issues before Congress—neutrality and monetary legislation—was fairly well defined, at a press conference which followed a Fourth of July picnic on the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park.

Roosevelt said he wanted Congress to pass a neutrality bill at this session as a means of preventing war. And, he added, he still is backing Hull's recommendation for deletion of an arms embargo provision from the Neutrality Law.

The President told reporters that reports to the State Department bore out news dispatches from European capitals that Fascists and Nazis had hailed the action of the House in approving a neutrality bill with a modified arms embargo clause.

The administration's first policy, the President said, is to prevent war. He intimated that the House acceptance of a partial arms embargo might bring war nearer and make it more difficult for the United States to keep out, and that it had had an undesirable effect on current conditions in Europe.

Roosevelt's insistence that Congress restore the administration's monetary powers was disclosed in a roundabout manner.

Asked at the press conference whether he would press for new monetary legislation, the President inquired what was the matter with that which was pending. He suggested the question was a bit previous.

The administration encountered another delay today in its efforts to win revision of the neutrality law when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee postponed until Saturday consideration of the House-approved Bloom bill.

Senator Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, who served as acting chairman, said action was delayed because several Foreign Committee members also are on the Finance Committee, which will begin consideration tomorrow of proposed changes in the Social Security law.

Chairman Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, who arrived just as the meeting broke up, said he was unperturbed by the delay and made it plain that administrative forces intended to demand a final showdown on their proposal to repeal the arms embargo of the present law.

"Certainly we shall stay here until there is a vote in the Senate on neutrality," Pittman said.

question before, asked whether "in view of illegal proceedings as to importations of munitions and armed men into the Free City of Danzig," Chamberlain would "take steps while there is time to impress upon the German Government the determination of the British people by some physical action such as mobilization of the fleet."

Cabinet in Long Session.
The British Cabinet, anxious, in face of the Danzig situation, for early decision of the fleet mobilization during the Czechoslovak crisis last September did not have "some considerable effect."

Both the tension over the Free City and the stalemated negotiations in Moscow were before the Ministers at their regular session, which lasted two and one-half hours.

Russia was said in Soviet circles to have given qualified agreement to the latest British-French proposals, but new issues described as "minor" have been brought into the discussion.

British official circles were pessimistic, saying the new problems were likely to drag out for some time the negotiations which have been in progress since March. They were convinced, however, that agreement eventually would be reached.

New instructions to Britain's envoys to Moscow were to be sent for presentation to Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov later this week.

The new issues involved a British suggestion that the Netherlands, Belgium and Switzerland be included in guarantees of aid demanded by Russia for Estonia, Latvia and Finland.

Russia was said to have objected to the inclusion of the Netherlands and Switzerland, with whom it has no diplomatic relations. The Netherlands also has notified Britain that it objects to being named in any guarantee because it might endanger its neutrality.

Proposal to End Delay.
The Times, which usually is in close touch with the Government, suggested editorially that Britain might try to avoid further delay in the French-British-Russian talks by seeking to persuade Moscow to agree immediately to conclude a relatively plain mutual assistance treaty with the British and French, with the understanding that the matter of guarantees to the Baltic countries be pursued later.

The Times said: "The view of the Soviet Government is understood to be that it is good for the Baltic States (Finland, Latvia and Estonia) to be defended from their German enemy and that therefore, whether they like it or not, they should be guaranteed."

Baltic States May Declare "Guarantees Not Wanted."
RIGA, July 5 (AP).—Usually well-informed Latvian sources said today that any "unilateral" guarantees of the Baltic states in a British-French-Soviet Russian pact might be met with counter declarations by the states themselves that "such guarantees are not wanted."

Resentment at the reported Soviet insistence that such guarantees be made whether the Baltic states want them or not has been apparent in Latvia, Estonia and Finland. The three countries have appeared to resent the lack of definite information about British-French-Russian pact negotiations in Moscow.

The three nations maintain that they are neutral and that they firmly intend to defend their neutrality in their own capitals.

"There is too much emphasis on the dangers of aggression for the Baltic states and too little emphasis on the ability of the Baltic states to defend themselves," said one responsible Latvian.

FOUR HURT IN BLAST AT FILLING STATION

Building at 7209 Landsdowne Avenue Wrecked—Gasoline in Nearby Creek Catches Fire.

An explosion of undetermined origin wrecked the Aero Service Station, 7209 Landsdowne avenue, at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, injuring four persons, one seriously. The four walls of the one-story station were blown down and the roof fell in, throwing particles of material into Landsdowne avenue. Fire followed.

Charles von Kessel, 62 years old, 7115 Landsdowne avenue, a bystander, was felled by falling debris and suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. He is in City Hospital.

Others injured were the attendants, Wilfred H. Schulte and Harold Riddell, and Mrs. Mildred Hannum, 7261 Olive boulevard, University City. Schulte was burned on the arm, elbow and neck by the blast. Riddell was cut on the back and face when the station wall, against which he was leaning, collapsed. Mrs. Hannum, riding in Landsdowne in an automobile, was struck in the temple by a piece of flying glass. She refused medical attention at the scene and Riddell and Schulte were released from City Hospital after treatment.

The fire reached gasoline in a creek back of the station. Flames shot 30 feet in to the air from the creek surface, and firemen remained on the scene three hours until satisfied there was no danger of an explosion from gasoline in two 2000-gallon underground tanks at the station and a 24,000-gallon storage tank beside nearby railroad tracks. The damage was estimated at $4000.

Firemen said Schulte told them that earlier in the afternoon he had pumped gasoline from the storage tank to the station tanks. Firemen said all valves in the line between the tanks were closed. A possible cause of the explosion could have been the ignition of fumes in the station basement by a spark from an electric air compressor there, firemen said.

The station is owned by Mrs. Adele Schulte, 7525 Landsdowne avenue, Shrewsbury.

BULGARIAN PREMIER VISITS
BERLIN TO TALK TO HITLER
City Decorated in His Honor and Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop.

BERLIN, July 5 (AP).—Bulgarian Premier George Kiossevanoff, hailed by the Nazi press as a "man of factual politics," arrived today on a state visit to Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Berlin was decked in its holiday best to receive him. Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop welcomed Kiossevanoff, his wife and daughter at Anhalter station, and escorted them to Bellevue Castle.

The program called for the Bulgarian Premier to see Hitler this afternoon and attend a state banquet tonight.

Hitler began a day of receptions at noon when the chief of Hungarian general staff, Gen. Henry Werth, called at the Chancellery. Gen. Werth is to be shown the Siegfried Line, the new fortifications system along the French frontier.

JAPANESE REPORT 53 SOVIET PLANES DOWNED IN FIGHT

Tokyo Hears of "Great, Awe-Inspiring" Air Battle on Manchoukouan-Mongolian Border.

TOKYO, July 5 (AP).—The Japanese army reported today that its airmen in Manchoukou had shot down 53 Soviet airplanes in a "great, awe-inspiring battle" along the border between Manchoukou and Soviet-protected Outer Mongolia.

The Japanese asserted that this encounter involved 150 airplanes and lasted for an hour and a half late yesterday. The Japanese indicated they suffered no losses.

(There was no report of such a battle in Moscow. Japanese and Soviet forces have been in sporadic warfare along the Manchoukouan-Mongolian frontier in the Lake Bor region since May 11. Japanese dispatches have reported overwhelming Japanese victories, and Moscow dispatches overwhelming victories for the Soviet forces.)

The Kwantung army, Japan's Manchoukou garrison, asserted that 365 enemy planes had been shot down in the intermittent fighting on the Manchoukou-Outer Mongolia border since May 20 in addition to planes destroyed on the ground in a raid June 27 on the Mongol air base at Tamsak (Tamskumun). A communiqué at the time said 98 Soviet or Mongol planes were destroyed at Tamsak.

Japanese losses for the period were not stated. The Japanese reported their airmen had made 12 raids on Soviet positions south of Lake Bor, shooting down nine Soviet airplanes. They said the raids were made west of the Khalka River, which flows north into Lake Baikal, and for the last 50 miles forms the boundary between Manchoukou and Outer Mongolia.

"Flash" Floods So-Called Because Water Rises and Falls Quickly.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 5 (AP).—Eastern Kentucky mountain towns and villages swept by quickly-rising creeks and rivers early today are built along the banks of streams because there is so little level ground.

Morehead, scene of the largest death toll, is in a valley between high mountains. There are many modern stores and homes. The stream which overflowed runs through the town and ordinarily is very small.

There, as at Jackson and other communities, the streams, because of their narrow beds, are unable to carry off excess water fast enough. The mountaineers call these "flash" floods because the water comes up rapidly and subsides quickly.

Morehead has a population of 2500 and Jackson 2100.

Senate Debates Monetary Powers Bill

was in favor of continuing the President's control over the value of money, and of increasing the price of domestic silver, but he could not vote, he said, for extending the "disastrous" foreign silver purchase policy. Maloney urged that all these topics should be considered separately.

Senator McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, the first speaker on the administration side, predicted that the conference report would "most probably" pass the Senate this afternoon, and declared that it would be just as good law as if Congress passed a special joint resolution extending the President's monetary authority.

Senator Danaher (Rep.), Connecticut, suggested that the stabilization fund should be reinstated for the reason that, while the $2,000,000,000 remains in this form, the Treasury cannot spend it.

Barkley Sees Roosevelt.
The first silver Senators to speak, McCarran of Nevada and Ashurst of Arizona, indicated that they would oppose the conference report, the former because of opposition to continuing Roosevelt's monetary power, and the latter because the conference reduced the proposed silver subsidy from 77 to 70 cents per ounce.

Senator Holman (Rep.), Oregon, expressed fear that adoption of the conference report would "take this country a long way towards establishing a dictatorship."

Senator Norris (Ind.), Nebraska, enlivened the session with a caustic description of Friday night's session, during which he declared that Senator Taft (Rep.), Ohio, "rose to speak with a whole swarm of bees buzzing around his head," and pictured Senator Austin as a Brutus plunging his sword into a bill which he maintained to be already dead.

Norris admitted that he would support the conference report just as enthusiastically if the foreign silver purchase provision were eliminated, but declared that prosperity would increase if President Roosevelt were to proceed to devalue the dollar to 30 cents.

For Return to Conference.
Senator Taft urged rejection of the conference report with the understanding that such rejection would mean final action, but merely a return of the monetary bill to Congress.

Majority Leader Barkley said after a conference with President Roosevelt today he expected the Senate to approve the monetary legislation late this afternoon.

A vote on the measure is scheduled for 4 p. m. (St. Louis time). Administration leaders contend that, although the legislation originally was drawn to extend the powers before they died, approval now would have the effect of restoring them.

Bent upon getting this legislation approved and also undertaking to have the Senate pass administration-sponsored neutrality measures, the President returned to the capitol this morning from a Fourth of July holiday at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Bartholomew of the House conferred with him a few hours after his arrival.

Asked about prospects on the monetary legislation, Barkley said: "I think it looks all right."

When the Senate convened it appeared that the balance of power lay with the silver bloc, consisting of 18 members from the nine states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and Wyoming, reinforced by four Senators from Washington and Oregon, which have no silver mines but are "silver-minded."

These had the option of following Senator Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, who in a public statement endorsed the conference report and urged his silver colleagues to support it; or of joining Senator Adams, who refused to sign the report and opposed it during the filibuster of Friday night. The Republicans expected continued support from such "sound money" Democrats as Glass of Virginia and Tydings of Maryland.

The new monetary bill passed by the House was amended in the Senate through a coalition of Republican silver Senators and Democratic enemies of the President. These amendments proposed to terminate the President's power to devalue the dollar, end the administration's foreign silver purchase policy and to boost the price of silver domestically from 64 to 77 cents per ounce. At a conference with House members, the first two amendments were stricken out, and the subsidy for domestic silver was reduced to 70.95 cents.

In the course of the melee the Treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund also was slaughtered, though both Senate and House were in favor of its continuance. Republican Senators have declared they would support a special bill re-establishing this fund, though some Democratic speakers in both houses held that it would be futile.

PROVISIONS OF MONETARY LEGISLATION UP FOR FINAL SENATE ACTION

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—The monetary legislation up for final Senate action today provides for:

Continuation for two years of the President's power to devalue the dollar another 8 cents. It was cut 41 per cent in January, 1934.

Extension for two years of the Treasury's $2,000,000,000 fund to stabilize the dollar in relation to other currencies. This authority expired last Friday midnight along with the devaluation powers.

Permission to continue purchases of foreign silver which the Senate originally had refused. This power did not lapse with the other monetary powers June 30.

A statutory price of 71.11 cents an ounce for domestically-mined silver. Power to buy such metal did not lapse June 30, but a presidential proclamation fixing the price at 64.64 cents did.

Asked about prospects on the monetary legislation, Barkley said: "I think it looks all right."

title unless the executive also retained power to devalue the dollar.

Barkley's Contention.
Barkley of Kentucky was expected to elaborate a point he touched upon in Friday night's debate. This was regarding the Rural Electrification Act of May 20, 1936, which provided that, until June 30, 1937, the administrator was authorized to make loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. At its expiration, the act lapsed for a year, and was restored by an amendment of June 21, 1936.

"It is to be noted," declared Barkley, "that in the amendment provision there is no mention of the revival of the powers of the RFC to make loans to the administrator. It must have been intended that such a revival of powers would be brought about merely by furnishing additional funds and by changing the original expiration date. There has been no indication that such action has been construed to be invalid or ineffective."

Senator Clark's "Curbsome Opinion" on Legal Issue Involved.
In view of declarations from both sides in the Senate that the Supreme Court may eventually decide the legal point as to whether legislation that has lapsed can be reinstated by subsequent adoption of a conference report, Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri was asked this morning in what manner the issue might be taken before the Federal tribunal.

"This is only a curbsome opinion," said Clark, "but I don't see how the question could even be raised until the President has actually ordered further devaluation of the dollar. Then any citizen might bring an action on the ground that he had suffered specific injury."

"It is my opinion that Congress could pass a special joint resolution continuing the President's authority to fix the value of money. Whether the same resolution can be obtained by voting a conference report is a very close legal question, which the Supreme Court has never been called upon to decide. Neither has it given a decision as to the constitutionality of the original legislation which delegated to the President the function of regulating the value of money."

BOOM OIL TOWN SEEKS TO EXTEND ITS BOUNDARIES

St. Elmo, Ill., to Expand 40 Acres Under Approval of Fayette County Court.

WANTS TO OBTAIN TAVERN CONTROL

Encounters Obstacle in Failure to Obtain Petitioners for Another Proposed Extension.

By F. A. BEHYMER
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. ELMO, Ill., July 5.—Swollen and congested with oil prosperity, this town is preparing to expand. A petition for extension of the limits to take in 40 acres on the west was approved at a hearing last Friday before County Judge Charles R. Myers at Vandalia. It was expected that action to effect the extension would be taken at Monday night's meeting of the City Council, but the necessary papers were not ready. Mayor F. E. Zeigler said yesterday a meeting will be called probably this week, to order establishments of the new limits.

St. Elmo, even before it became an oil boom town, was considered too small in area for its population. 1300 at the last census, and an attempt was made several years ago to extend the limits, but it was defeated. The population now, between 4500 and 5000, is about half outside the city limits. The museum growth beyond the borders includes some permanent improvements but more makeshift habitations of oil field workers, thrown up in the early months of the inrush to provide shelter which was otherwise lacking.

Night Life Comes With Boom.
There are also taverns and "dine and dance" places which sprang up in the wake of the invasion, patronized more by oil field followers and speculators than by the actual workers.

There is night life of a sort on the south side of Highway 40, especially on Friday and Saturday nights, over which the town authorities have no control and from which the town derives no revenue. There are only four saloons in St. Elmo. There were only three before the boom, but another quickly started up. The license is $700 a year for the sale of liquors and beer.

The five places outside the city limits pay a county license of only $300, and are presumed to be regulated by the county authorities. For a time this regulation didn't amount to much, but with increase in week-end disorders and the coming in of a new County Commission they were required to provide for the presence of a deputy sheriff at each place on Friday and Saturday nights.

Taverns Stay Outside Limits.
Prior to this year there was a limit of four taverns fixed by ordinance for the town. Early in this year the limit was removed, but there has been no increase in the number within the limits because of the lower license rate outside the limits. There are no taverns in the area to be taken in on the west. Except for the general offices of the Carter Oil Co. and the municipal sewer disposal plant, there are only residences.

St. Elmo's difficulty in the matter of revenue is that, as matters now stand, it has to take care of a quadrupled population on the income basis established before it began to grow. The rate of assessment is fixed once in four years. The present rate is based on the population of 1300 which it had when the rate was fixed. The revenue last year was only $7000. Next year it is expected that there will be an increase of 100 to 150 per cent. Its share of the State motor fuel tax is based on the last census and will not be increased until after the next census. For these reasons extension of the city limits is felt to be necessary.

Triple Plan for Expansion.
It was the original intention to have the town expand in three directions at the same time. Two additional petitions were filed in the County Court, one for an extension southward beyond the National Trail, the present southern border, and one eastward beyond the tracks of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad, about a quarter of a mile in width, but objections were filed against these two petitions and they were not granted. In the case of the extension southward, it was found that the petition did not bear the required signatures of a majority of the property owners and voters in the area sought to be annexed. The deficiency grew out of the fact that a tract of 15 acres on the south of the National Trail was supposed to be owned by one person, Mrs. Anna B. Whiteside, but the objection filed on her behalf also bore the signatures of her three children by a former marriage, Mrs. Annabelle Webb, Miss Rosemary Johnston and Ben Johnston, to the four of whom it had been deeded jointly by Mrs. Whiteside's first husband. With these four opposing the annexation there does not appear at

DIXIE CLIPPER ENDS ITS TRIP

Big Flying Boat Makes Return Flight in 34 1/2 Hours.

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP).—The 41-ton Dixie Clipper was back at its home base today after completing a round-trip flight opening commercial passenger service across the Atlantic.

The Pan American Airways flying boat, which left here last Wednesday, alighted in Long Island Sound yesterday at 7:48 a. m. after an uneventful crossing. The flying time for the eastward trip was 31 hours, 52 minutes and for the return flight 34 hours, 27 minutes.

Equitable Life Alleges Payments of Principal and Interest Are in Default.

Foreclosure of a $1,500,000 deed of trust, secured by the 10-story Cotton Belt Building, Fourth and Pine streets, formerly the Planters Hotel, is requested by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York in a suit filed in United States District Court against the Planters Realty Co. The insurance company alleges $430,000 in semi-annual principal payments are in default from July, 1933, and that interest has not been paid since Jan. 1.

After the hotel was remodeled for use as an office building, it was renamed the Cotton Belt Building when the railroad leased two floors for its offices.

Three Missouri Convicts Escape. JEFFERSON CITY, July 5 (AP).—Three convicts escaped unnoticed during a Fourth of July celebration at a State prison farm near here yesterday. They are Albert Jack Qualls, Oscar B. Griffin, and John Henry Lester.

EX-CONVICT GETS 4 YEARS; HAD 11 STOLEN TYPEWRITERS

Walter F. McCallen, a former convict, was sentenced to four years in prison by United States District Judge John Caskie Collet today, when he pleaded guilty of possession of 11 typewriters stolen two years ago from the Ridge School. The typewriters had been used in connection with a WPA historical survey at the school. Assistant United States Attorney Herbert H. Freer told the Court the typewriters had been stolen from the school by four boys, including McCallen's 14 and 15-year-old sons, and concealed in a garage at the McCallen home in Wellston. Later, police said, McCallen transferred the machines to his home.

LEAGUE OFFICIAL IN DANZIG URGES EFFORT FOR PEACE

Dr. Carl Burckhardt Says 'With Good Will' It Can Be Preserved Despite Danger in Situation.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, July 5 (AP).—Dr. Carl Burckhardt, the Swiss scholar who is the League of Nations' high commissioner in the Free City of Danzig, told the Associated Press today men of good will everywhere must combine their talent to preserve peace.

"The highest duty of everyone in these serious hours is to exert every effort to save peace, and with good will it can be done," he said in an interview in his office in a downtown mansion.

The Free City is under the protection of the League, which appointed Burckhardt high commissioner Feb. 10, 1937.

Performing one of the most delicate political tasks in precariously balanced Europe, he was reluctant to make statements which could in any way compromise his usefulness as a mediator.

But he authorized three statements in his behalf:

1. "The highest obligation of everyone is to bend every effort to preserve peace."
2. "We must not exaggerate events in uneasy Danzig. Overstatement contributes unnecessarily to the tension of the moment."
3. "We must not draw isolated incidents out of their proper setting and attach undue importance to them. The problem should be considered as a whole without adding to the difficulties by magnifying some specific event or situation."

Burckhardt, who has been called by Adolf Hitler "the most tactful of men," preferred not to give illustrations of exaggerations or of "seeing specific incidents disproportionately."

Some of his co-workers have been disturbed by the so-called "police measures" being taken in Danzig—described abroad as "military preparations."

The opinion rather extensively held here is that these measures are insignificant in a military sense.

Meanwhile Danzig political leaders were explaining that the decision of the Bank of Danzig to stop interest payments abroad on a number of loans was due largely to an increasingly effective Polish "boycott" on Danzig industry and the necessity of using available free currency to modernize industrial plants.

Poles Think Diplomatic Counter-Attack Eased Tension.
WARSAW, July 5 (AP).—Polish circles expressed belief today that Central European tension had been relaxed and said a diplomatic counter-attack by Britain, France and Poland had impressed Germany.

The independent newspaper Wieszczy Warszawski called the new situation a "truce" and said it might last four weeks.

There still were some indications of nervousness, however. Hoarding by peasants was said to have drawn many silver coins from circulation. Polish forces remained mobilized and one newspaper warned that "until Hitler gives sincere proof of desire for peace, Europe must remain watchful and armed."

Some newspapers reported evidence of continued militarization of Danzig.

The Polish Ambassador to Great Britain, Count Edward Raczyński, conferred last night with President Ignace Moscicki almost immediately after returning from his London post, strengthening the belief of Poles that a French-British-Polish warning to Danzig might soon materialize.

Polish reports from Danzig said labor units of the Free City had started digging trenches along the Polish frontier and erecting barricades. These reports, unconfirmed from other sources, said many unharvested fields had been ruined by these activities.

It was regarded likely that Britain, France and Poland would seek to impress on the Danzig Government that such steps as the reported militarization of the Free City could not be tolerated.

"Big Five" of Poland Meet.
A few hours before the President received Raczyński the "big five" council—Moscicki, Marshall Edward Smigly-Rydz, Premier Felicjan Slawoj Skladkowski, Vice-President Eugeniusz Kwiatkowski and Foreign Minister Joseph Beck—convened. The "big five" is assembled only on occasions of high importance.

Moscicki also received Col. Adam Koc, chairman of the Polish financial commission to England, who was believed to have reported on negotiations for war materials and new credits from Britain.

There was some difference of opinion as to whether any "warning" could be delivered to Danzig directly instead of through the League of Nations, the Free City's nominal protector.

It was taken for granted that Raczyński brought most solemn assurances that Britain was prepared to do its part in—as the pro-Government newspaper Kurier Szweryny put it—"guaranteeing the rightful interests of Poland in Danzig."

Reliable assurances that Marian Chodaski, Polish Commissioner for Danzig, had made no protest over

EX-CONVICT POSING AS OFFICER HELD ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

Edward Rains, Released in May Said to Have Issued Bad Paper for $85.

Edward Rains, released last May from the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, where he had served a three-year term for impersonating a Federal officer, was arrested by police and Federal agents last night, after he had identified himself, police said, as an army Colonel in passing worthless checks at two hotels and a restaurant.

Rains, 67 years old, admitted using the name of Col. Edward Martin, police said, in issuing a $50 check at the De Soto Hotel, a $35 check at the York Hotel and a check for $10 at a restaurant at Gravois and Compton avenues. He was arrested after the restaurant owner became suspicious of his actions.

Police said Rains had served terms in state penitentiaries in Illinois, New York and California for passing worthless checks.

C. B. LUCK JR. KILLED ON HUNTING TRIP

Shotgun He Leaned Against Fence Discharged by Accident.

Charles B. Luck Jr., assistant superintendent of the mechanical department of the Mallinckrodt Chemical Works, was accidentally shot to death yesterday when on a holiday hunting trip near Paynesville, Mo., about 75 miles north of St. Louis.

Luck was hunting squirrels with a friend. He had leaned his shotgun against a wire fence, and as he started to climb over the fence the gun was discharged. The charge struck him in the hand and chest.

Luck, 40 years old, resided at 2825 Ridgeway avenue, St. John's Station, St. Louis County. He and his wife, Mrs. Genevieve V. Luck, had gone to Paynesville to visit friends over the holiday. The body was returned to the Bauman Bros. mortuary, 2504 Woodson road, Overland.

Keep Awake.

GLENDIVE, Mont., July 5 (AP).—Clarence Giles kept biting his lips to remain awake during his 77½-hour swim down the Yellowstone River to a new world's distance record of 288 miles.

"I'm tired—I'm going to spend the next two weeks just resting," the 45-year-old Glendive cattle auctioneer commented. He was able to be up yesterday.

His right foot and left leg, however, were sore from battering against driftwood and hidden rocks. He was haggard and wan from having been without sleep for three and one-half days.

His right eye, treated for infection at Forsyth, where he left the water for 10 minutes, the only time he emerged, was nearly healed.

French Actor Takes New Leading

VERSAILLES, France, July 5 (AP).—Sacha Guitry, French actor and playwright, and his new leading lady, Genevieve de Serreville, were married yesterday. It was Guitry's fourth marriage—each to an actress—and the bride's first. Crowds expecting the marriage were led on a chase after the couple through Paris suburbs yesterday.

Guitry and his third wife, Jacqueline Delubac, were divorced April 5. She, too, was once his leading lady.

CLARK WARNS AGAINST MEDDLING IN EUROPE

Our Task Is to Preserve Our Own Democracy, He Says
at Cape Girardeau.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., July 5.—Bennett Champ Clark, United States Senator, in a speech last night at an American Legion picnic here, expressed satisfaction that observance of the Fourth of July has shifted from twisting the lion's tail and making the eagle scream to emphasizing the wisdom and courage of the founders of the nation.

"It is rather for us upon this day," he said, "to rededicate ourselves to the immortal principles upon which this Republic was founded and to pledge ourselves to the principle that the system of government set up by the fathers shall be preserved and we will not permit our own liberties to be jeopardized by allowing the United States to drift into alliance with any nation in the world or into a situation where we may become involved in the power politics of the other hemisphere.

"Our Task to Save Our Democracy. Upon you, my comrades of the World War, members of an organization especially dedicated to the preservation of American institutions, I urge the proposition that the greatest contribution which the United States can possibly make to the preservation of democracy in the world is to preserve democracy in America, to maintain intact our own constitutional institutions and to resolutely refuse to be drawn into the quarrels or rivalries based upon the trade or territorial aspirations of any other nation in the world."

Discussing the threats of war in portions of the world and the danger of this country's involvement, Senator Clark said: "Far worse and far more tragic in its implications, so far as the welfare of the United States is concerned, is the fact that already we are much further along the road to actual involvement and active participation in the next European war, even before it develops, than we were even three months before our own entrance into the last war after two and one-half years of carnage abroad.

Commitments Being Sought.

"Already the effort is being made to have us choose sides and commit ourselves to one set of prospective belligerents before so much as a single gun is fired in the war. Already the effort is being made to bring about commitments on our part which will 'rain set our feet upon the path which inevitably leads to war. Already while we are still talking about our obligation to make the world safe for democracy, there is being made the suggestion of our responsibility to participate, if necessary, in another 'war to end war' in which we will again send the best and bravest of our youth to die on foreign fields in Europe or Asia, thousands of miles from home in quarrels which do not in any degree whatever concern us.

"I frankly confess that I make no pretension of knowing of a policy which can provide an absolute and infallible guaranty against involvement in war. Certainly there is no such policy which can be written into law or enacted as legislation. The only sure way to avoid involvement in another war is for another war not to break out.

Advocate of Peaceful Methods.

"I have supported disarmament and settlement of disputes by peaceful means. But if these fail, or if nations insist on arming to the teeth for conflict and that conflict comes, then I insist that we must do everything in our power to stay out. And I believe that the United States can stay out of the next war if it wants to and if it understands what is necessary to preserve neutrality and is willing to pay the price for peace.

"Such a policy means the sacrifice of the transitory profits which come from war-mongering and trafficking in death. It will be far, far cheaper for us in the long run in blood and treasure and in the perpetuation of our most sacred institutions. It will cost us millions but it will save us billions. It will save us from footing the bill for other nations whose aims are not our aims and whose democracy is not our democracy. It will save us from sacrificing the flower of our youth—your boys and my boys—in quarrels in which we have no interest."

SECOND PONTOON TO RAISE SQUALUS BEING ATTACHED

Huge Chains Used, Each Link Weighing 76 Pounds, in Operations at Portsmouth, N. H.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 5 (AP).—With one pontoon attached to a massive chain encircling the after section of the submarine Squalus, navy salvage experts had virtually completed today the attaching of a second.

The first was made fast at a depth of 200 feet, 40 feet above the disabled craft which still holds 26 of its crew who perished in a dive on May 23. The second pontoon will be attached at a depth of 180 feet.

The chain used in the operation is as large as anchor chains on the largest warships. Each link weighs 76 pounds, is 15 inches long and 2½ inches thick. Huge wire cable is used to attach the pontoons to the chains. The task is both so ponderous and so delicate that the navy said the sinking of one pontoon a day would be good speed.

GLIDER SHOOTS UP TOO FAST IN CLOUD, SO PILOT BAILS OUT

Flyer Says He Rose 40 Feet a Second When Sucked Into Center of Up-Draft.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 5 (AP).—Udo Fischer "balled out" of his motorless sailplane—not because he was going to crash, but because he was going up too fast.

He had no proper instruments for blind flying, nor experience, the Ithaca (N. Y.) glider pilot explained when he returned to headquarters of the national soaring contests after his leap yesterday over the valley between Elmira and Corning, N. Y. It was the first ball-out in the 10-year history of the contests. Fischer said he tried to fly out of the cloud in which he was being drawn upward, but bailed out when he decided he was rising about 40 feet a second. He said he flew toward the cloud—a towering incipient cumulonimbus cloud—with the hope of using the strong up-draft beneath it, but was sucked into the center, where turbulent thermals (rising air currents) carried him upward.

Fischer dropped about 4500 feet in his parachute, 1000 of that without pulling his ripcord, so that he fell out of the cloud and the danger of being drawn upward, before floating to the ground. His glider crashed on its nose about 100 feet from where he landed.

Lieut. Robert M. Stanley, naval aviation cadet, who earlier in the meet reached a new soaring plane altitude when he sailed to 16,400 feet above sea level, rode the center of a huge white cloud (cumulus) to an estimated 18,000 feet above sea level yesterday. Neither flight has been made an official record.

Chester Decker, of Glenrock, N. Y., is leading in the contest standings with 2172 points. Stanley is second with 1263. The meet ends July 9.

ATLANTIC CITY BOARDWALK SWEEP BY $105,000 FIRE

Nine Novelty, Ice Cream and Candy Stores, Stocked for Holiday, Trade, Destroyed.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 5 (AP).—While about 200,000 holiday visitors looked on, fire swept through an entire block of stores on the boardwalk between Missouri avenue and Columbia place yesterday, and damage estimated by Fire Chief Joseph B. Leeds at $105,000. Two firemen were injured.

Nine novelty, ice cream and candy stores, heavily stocked for the holiday trade, were wiped out by the flames. The fire was a block above the Convention Hall, and a block below the million-dollar pier.

The block of stores, of one-story frame construction, ran 160 feet along the boardwalk and extended 110 feet back to a parking lot—a 75-foot open space that prevented the flames from sweeping back through a vast sea of frame buildings. The Mortgage Guarantee Co. of Baltimore holds a $300,000 mortgage on the land and buildings.

RISE IN BUSINESS ACTIVITY FOR SIX-WEEK PERIOD

Hopkins Says, However, Volume for Second Quarter Is Below

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—An increase in business activity in the last six weeks was reported last night by Secretary of Commerce Hopkins.

"Recent gains have been substantial," said Hopkins, "as they followed two months of decline the total volume for the second quarter of the year did not measure up to the results of the preceding quarter."

Wages, interest and other income payments for the first half of the year were estimated at an annual rate of $65,800,000,000, compared with $64,200,000,000 in 1938. The estimate is below the 1937 total of $69,000,000,000 and more than $14,000,000,000 short of the goal set by President Roosevelt.

Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. In recent years Mrs. Hurck, who was 59 years old, had not lived in St. Louis. She was at her summer home in Chautauque, Ill., when she became ill two weeks ago. Surviving are a son, John D. Hurck of St. Louis, and a daughter, Mrs. Chris M. Stanton of Albany, Ga. Mrs. Hurck was the widow of John DeSmet Hurck.

INVENTOR HOWE LOSES IN SUPREME COURT

Dismissal of $4,000,000 Claim Against Mrs. Howard's Estate Is Affirmed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 5.—A judgment of St. Louis County Circuit Court dismissing a $4,000,000 claim filed by A. Frank Howe, inventor, against the estate of the late Mrs. Minnie Morey Howard, in St. Louis County Probate Court, was affirmed today by the Missouri Supreme Court en banc.

The Supreme Court held the claim was a contingent one and was not of the class of claims enforceable in Probate Court against an estate. Howe's claim grew out of his long-pending suit in United States District Court at Springfield, Ill., to recover profits from patents he owned for steel casting molds, which were used by the former Commonwealth Steel Co. An accounting to determine the amount due Howe is in progress before a special master appointed by the Federal Court, with Howe claiming $10,000,000 to $12,000,000.

Mrs. Howard was the widow of Clarence H. Howard, president of the old Commonwealth Steel Co., which was sold in 1929 to the General Steel Castings Corporation for about $35,000,000.

Judge James M. Douglas, who wrote the opinion, said the claim was asserted on a contention the accounting had advanced sufficiently to show Howe was entitled to more than $5,500,000 and that he claimed $4,000,000 from Mrs. Howard's estate, or such amount as is finally determined to be due him. Proceeds of the sale of the Commonwealth were distributed to stockholders, except about $2,000,000 being held by a stockholders' committee to meet any award to Howe.

Liability on the part of the estate, Judge Douglas said, cannot be absolute until the accounting in the Federal Court case has been finished, and there can be no certainty of liability until there is a final decree in the Federal Court case.

"A claim not absolute or certain is not enforceable in the Probate Court against an estate," Judge

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO FORCE GRAND JURY CALL

Denies, Without Comment, Mandamus Sought by Prosecutor in Platte County.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 5 (AP).—The Supreme Court denied today a mandamus sought by Prosecutor Robert B. Symptom to force the calling of a grand jury in Platte County.

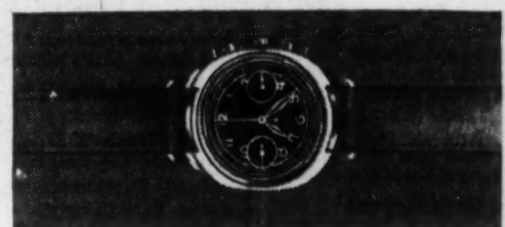

Symptom had asked the court to compel Circuit Judge R. B. Bridgman to show cause why a grand jury should not be ordered. In support of his plea he said many felonies had been committed in recent years, but only a grand jury could fix the responsibility for the crimes. He also said a grand jury was needed to investigate the acts of county officials.

The court denied the mandamus without comment.

firm, died of pneumonia at City Hospital yesterday.
At the time, Bowcock was quoted by police as saying he was "depressed and worried over what the strikers might do to me." He had remained away from his job in the early part of the strike, which began May 22, but returned to work June 21. He remained in the plant overnight and cut his throat in a washroom early the next morning.
At the inquest today Patrolman Euell Barnhart, one of eight officers who signed the police report, testified that he had learned nothing on which to base the statement in the report that Bowcock had been "despondent and frightened" by the strike. None of the other officers was called. The inquest was continued pending completion of an autopsy.

Bowcock's sister-in-law, Mrs. James F. Bowcock, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that Bowcock said nothing indicating fear of the strikers before he returned to work and, so far as she knew, had not commented on the strike while in the hospital. She added that Bowcock, as assistant foreman, was not eligible for membership in the union.

Representatives of the union declared they "were at a loss" to explain Bowcock's action. They said he had the respect and friendship of strikers and pointed out that no acts of violence had occurred during the strike, which ended June 28.

Bowcock lived with his brother and sister-in-law at 2717 Caroline street.

FRENCH GETTING ANGRY AT DELAY ON SOVIET PACT

Ex-Premier Blum Calls for Some "Yes" or "No" Answers—"People Wait, Peace May Not."

PARIS, July 5 (AP).—France sent new suggestions to London today for proposals to Moscow in continuation of efforts to get Soviet Russia into the British-French front.

French officials expressed disappointment at Moscow's latest reply to previous British-French proposals and said they feared further delay.

The new French plan, the nature of which was not disclosed, was relayed to London for discussion with Britain before further steps are taken in Moscow over the points at issue—the difficulty of giving guarantees of aid to smaller states which do not want such guarantees.

French commentators were alarmed and angry at failure to reach a quick agreement with Russia.

Blum Wants "Yes" or "No."
Former Premier Leon Blum called for some straight "yes" or "no" answers from the negotiations, which were being conducted in secrecy. "The hour is past," he said. "The people wait, but perhaps peace will not wait."

Sections of the French press accused Russia of increasing its price every time tension over Danzig developed. One remarked that "this is typical Soviet diplomacy—just like a Russian ballet. One step forward and then two backward."

The commentator Pertinax writing in L'Ordre, said Prime Minister Chamberlain had bungled the negotiations from the beginning and suggested that he send an "unentangled" British statesman to Moscow to talk things over in a "man-to-man" fashion with Joseph Stalin. By "unentangled" he meant someone unconnected with the Munich pact.

Chamberlain, he continued, "always has been late with a concession." At the beginning of June, he said, Chamberlain rejected "a Russian proposal that he would be happy to accept today."

British War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha declared last night to the "whole world" that Britain and France "understand completely the character of the challenge which is offered to us and will meet it, if need be, with decision."

Speaking at a France-Britain Association dinner after a day spent conferring with the British Ambassador to Paris, Sir Eric Phipps, Gen. Maurice Gamelin, commander-in-chief of French armed forces, and various other French leaders, the visitor emphasized British-French collaboration.

"It would be the most mortal of errors for observers and still more for interested parties to make false deductions from the fact that circumstances have placed us upon the defensive," he said.

"As we lack aggressive intentions the initiative cannot in the first place lie with us. This to the superficial onlooker may appear weakness whereas in the long run it will be strength."

"We Live as Comrades."
Hore-Belisha said France and Britain have a "complete interchange of information, knowledge and experience. We live as comrades as, if need be, we shall die."

"The partnership is neither selfish nor exclusive. It is ready, as we have seen, to act on behalf of others who may find their independence threatened."

He said France had the world's finest army and Britain the finest navy and together the countries, at the present pace of production, "shall have the most modern and in quality the most powerful air forces."

French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet joined Hore-Belisha in declaring the British-French alliance the most powerful military factor in the present world tension.

"France and England have not only the duty of maintaining the integrity and independence of their empires. They have equally that of maintaining in the world a certain degree of security without which life's risks would become intolerable to men."

"It is not possible for men to fear each day for the frontiers of their territory. It is not possible to wake each morning under the menace of violence and war."

STOLEN PLANE RECOVERED

Pilot Seized in Springfield After Craft Is Taken in Chicago.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 5 (AP). — H. S. Darr, manager of the Curtiss-Reynolds Airport near Chicago, reported a single motored cabin monoplane was stolen at noon yesterday by a student flyer who took 50 minutes of dual instruction, but was refused permission to rent it for flying alone.

The State police announced Fred Hofmann, 40, of La Grange Park, Ill., was seized here as the abducting aviator after a flight of some 180 miles from Chicago. Hofmann was charged with larceny of the plane. Hofmann told police he had "rented the plane and just didn't return" and added: "I guess I'm in the dog house."

SPANISH EX-OFFICIALS IN CITY, MEXICO-BOUND

Former Consul in Paris, His Vice-Consul and Ex-Mayor of Irun in Group.

The former Paris Consul of the Republican Government in Spain, his Vice-Consul, and the former Mayor of Irun, once besieged city of the Basque country, left St. Louis today with their refugee families for Mexico City with the intention of establishing new homes there. They had fled to France in 1937 during the military campaign in Northern Spain and were guests here last night of the Society for Aid to Spanish Refugees.

"Because of our political beliefs, it is no longer possible for us to live in Spain," the former Republican Consul, Francisco Tomas Renteria, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

There are four men, five women, three girls and a boy in the group, all related. Included are members of the families of Tomas Renteria, Eduardo Mazon Martinez, Paris Vice-Consul, and the former Mayor of Irun, Leon Yrretagoyena, who is 81 years old.

A former prosperous wine merchant of the Basque city of 18,000 persons and head of the business which had been his family's livelihood for generations, Yrretagoyena, who has a patriarchal appearance, was forced to flee from the city before it fell to save his life. A spokesman for the group said, "The city, the former Mayor said,

British Insist Parley With Japan Deal Only With Tientsin Dispute

Ambassador Says Forceful Tactics Might Lead to Catastrophe—Japanese Call for Changed English Policy in China.

TOKYO, July 5 (AP).—British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craig indicated today that forthcoming British-Japanese talks would be limited to the Tientsin controversy, Japanese wishes notwithstanding.

At a press conference the envoy said it is definitely understood that the conferences will be confined to local issues connected with present conditions in Tientsin, where the Japanese imposed a blockade June 14 of British and French concessions.

Sir Robert expressed moderate optimism about the possible outcome of the arbitration negotiations and said "I am convinced there are no problems at hand which cannot be successfully solved if approached by both sides in a spirit of good will." He said, however, "I believe if forceful tactics are attempted a solution will be impossible, they might, on the contrary, lead to catastrophe."

Sir Robert said the program for the talks had not been determined. The date for beginning them, originally set for this week, also has been indefinitely postponed because of the tardiness of military representatives who were scheduled to arrive in Tokyo from Tientsin Friday.

Japanese sentiment, apparent everywhere, demands some guarantee of "British co-operation" not only in the North China port but with Japanese "aims" throughout China.

In London yesterday Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that the British Government had no intention of complying with demands of Japanese spokesmen that it cease supporting Chinese currency in favor of currency of the Japanese-dominated Federal Reserve Bank.

A Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch from Mukden, Manchoukuo, quoted a Japanese spokesman as repeating that a complete change of British policy regarding Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was a prerequisite for a settlement.

The Tientsin trouble derives from Britain's pro-Chiang policy," he said. "This must be changed or a settlement is impossible."

British Consul at Tientsin Denies Contact With Guerrillas.

TIENSIN, July 5 (AP).—British Consul-General Edward G. Jamieson said yesterday a Japanese report that he had been in contact with Chinese guerrillas was a "preposterous lie."

WATCH THE COLOR OF YOUR SKIN

A Yellow Tint may Mean You are Bilious and Need Calotabs.

The trained eye of your physician can tell at a glance that you are bilious or, as we Southerners say, you have so-called "Tropical Liver." To make sure of his diagnosis he looks for a coated tongue, poor appetite and digestion. In the absence of more serious symptoms he tells you that you are bilious and need a little Calotabs.

When you see the symptoms of biliousness why wait until you are really ill. Take Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablets that make calomel-taking a pleasure. Calotabs act like calomel and salts combined helping Nature to expel the bile and washing it out of your system.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of water—that's all. Next morning your system feels clean and refreshed, your head is clear, your spirits bright, and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish and go about your work or pleasure.

Genuine Calotabs are sold only in checker-board (black and white) packages bearing the trade mark "Calotabs." Avoid imitations. Family package only twenty-five cents; trial package ten cents at your dealer's.

Ex-Chinese Premier Forming New Pro-Japanese Party.

SHANGHAI, July 5 (AP).—Chinese political circles buzzed today with reports that former Chinese Premier Wang Ching-wei was attempting to form a new political party to undermine China's Kuomintang, or Government party.

Wang's effort was said to be a preliminary to proclamation of a new Japanese-backed Government at Nanking with the former Premier at its head. The new Government, to be known as Chunmin (All Peoples' Government) would replace the present Japanese-directed "Reformed Government."

Announcement of the formation of the new party—to be known as an "anti-Communist Kuomintang"—is expected to be made Friday, the second anniversary of the outbreak of the Chinese-Japanese war.

State Supreme Court Refuses Rehearing on Tax Exemption.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 5.—The Missouri Supreme Court on banc overruled today a motion for rehearing of the case in which it held last June 6 that property of the Young Women's Christian Association in St. Louis, as used from 1932 through 1938, was not taxable because it fell within a constitutional provision exempting from taxation property used exclusively for educational, religious or charitable purposes.

The Supreme Court, in that ruling, reversed a judgment of the St. Louis Circuit Court that the property was subject to taxation. The rehearing was sought by City Collector Baumann of St. Louis.

DR. SMITH IN JAIL, SAYS HE WON'T BE MADE 'THE GOAT'

Returned by Plane, Ex-President of Louisiana State U. Is Unable to Raise $50,000 Bond.
Baton Rouge, La., July 5 (AP).—James Monroe Smith, who was "not going to be the goat" indicated today the resigned president of Louisiana State University soon would end his reticence concerning charges that he embezzled $100,000 from the institution he headed for nine years.

Unable immediately to raise $50,000 bond, Dr. Smith spent the night in the parish jail. With his wife, who was indicted as an accomplice, the educator was returned yesterday after a trip under guard from Canada. Mrs. Smith was released last night under $7500 bond.

After refusing to talk with Federal agents or District Attorney Dewey Sanchez, Dr. Smith suddenly asked near midnight to speak with Sanchez. Jail officials said he then declared: "I am not going to be made the goat in this thing."

Sanchez had, by that time, retired and Sheriff Newman H. De Bretton did not call him. Members of Smith's family had been in earnest conversation with him for several hours previous to his request to see Sanchez, a jail official reported.

Taken Back by Plane.
After an easy-stage journey from Brockville, Ont., where he was rendered Saturday night to authorities, Smith was brought by plane from New York to New Orleans, thence by police car to the jail here.

As he was being led to a police car he said into a microphone thrust at his face: "I'm glad to be back. I'm sorry I went away. I was ill advised to leave. I will have something to say later."

This morning the New Orleans Times-Picayune, pursuing its campaign for a complete investigation, asked "Who advised him?"

As Smith and his wife were escorted through the dense crowd that had waited hours at the New Orleans airport to shout a cheer, "Hi Doc," a reporter touched Smith on the shoulder.

"Are you guilty?" the reporter asked. "Absolutely not," Smith responded.

Then under still heavier guard, in automobiles with shrieking sirens, the Smiths were rushed here, taken through a friendly group of faculty members and students who clustered about the jail, and then fingerprinted.

Teachers Sign Woman's Bond.
Mrs. Smith was released on bond signed by 10 persons, mostly faculty members and school attaches, and left the jail on the arm of her son, James M. Smith Jr., 19. The latter, with his brother-in-law, Owen W. Ware, also charged as an accomplice but free on bond, were allowed to talk at length with the Smiths.

"Any woman who loved her husband would stick by him to the last ditch as I will do," Mrs. Smith told interviewers.

The Baton Rouge Parish grand jury resumed today its investigation into the university's financial confusion that already has resulted in the indictment of the Smiths, Ware, J. M. Brown, Smith's brokerage intermediary, and J. Emory Adams, nephew of Mrs. Smith.

At the same time, in New Orleans, the United States grand jury took up its investigation—interrupted by the holidays—of alleged private use of WPA materials in Louisiana.

Governor Asks for Chance.
In an address yesterday at Opelousas, Gov. Earl K. Long asked the people not to be stampeded by the situation exposed at the university and asked for a chance for his administration to prove what it means to do.

"You hear that the WPA in Louisiana has had some funds misappropriated and some lost," the Governor said in his first important speech since succeeding Gov. Richard W. Leche, who resigned because of ill health shortly after Smith quit his university post and fled to Canada.

"There has been no more lost in Louisiana than in any other state. The same business has been going on in other places. They checked up in New Mexico and someone went to prison."

Long added that he wanted the guilty caught in all the present investigations.

CONDUCTOR BARBIROLLI WEDS New York Director Marries in London After Divorce.

GERMAN GLIDER PILOT GIVES DEMONSTRATION IN ST. LOUIS

Capt. Peter Riedel, Embassy Aviation Attache, Stops Here on Trip East.
Capt. Peter Riedel, assistant aviation attache of the German embassy in Washington, stopped in St. Louis yesterday on a trip he is making, partly by glider and partly by automobile, from San Francisco to Washington.

The German aviator arrived here in time to give an exhibition in his glider, which is 25 feet long and has a 60-foot wingspread, at the Fourth of July celebration at Lambert-St. Louis Municipal Airport. He departed today for Cleveland, traveling by automobile, with his ship on a trailer because weather conditions were unsuitable for gliding.

He expects to be in Elmira, N. Y., by Sunday, in time for the last day of a national glider competition. Accompanying him are Friedl Lang, also an aviator and son of the Anton Lang who took the part of Christ in the famous Oberammergau passion play, and Erich Mueller, chauffeur for the German Ambassador in Washington.

China Still Sends Firecrackers.
WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—Though barred by war, China has managed to continue supplying American youth with firecrackers for the fourth of July. A Commerce Department report showed yesterday that $532,000 worth of small firecrackers were imported from China in 1938, as compared to $596,000 in 1937.

Falls to Death From 17th Floor.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 5 (AP).—Miss Josephine Yasbec, 27 years old, of Pittsburg, Kan., was killed last night in a 17-story fall from a hotel window. Her sister, who was in the room with her, said Miss Yasbec was trying to lower a window, slipped and fell out.

Merlin R. Calvin Sentenced to 18 Months but Probation May Be Considered.

Merlin R. Calvin, former bookkeeper at the State Bank & Trust Co. of Weston, pleaded guilty before United States District Judge Charles B. Davis today to an indictment charging him with embezzling $1118 of the bank's funds. Judge Davis sentenced him to 18 months in a Federal reformatory but indicated the Court would hear an application for probation.

When arrested, Calvin told agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation he had issue, small checks against the accounts of depositors because his salary, which he said was $90 a month, was insufficient to meet his living expenses and he was heavily in debt.

A relative who appeared in Court to ask for leniency said Calvin now was working in a shoe factory and had received a promise of promotion if the embezzlement case could be settled. Calvin is 24 years old.

COOKE AND RIGGS IN ALL-AMERICAN FINAL AT WIMBLEDON CHALLENGE

HENNER HENKEL AND PUNCEC BOW TO U.S. STARS

Straight-Set Victory for Chicagoan—Cooke Wins Over German Star, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

5-4. He won the tenth game against service to love for the set. Cooke went out in front again by taking the third set, 6-4.

The American got away slowly, however. He had a great chance in the first game of the third set when he got away to 40-0 lead against Henkel's service but he mislaid three in a row off his backhand and finally lost the game. Cooke squared it in the second after a series of rallies.

After the next two games had gone with service, Cooke got away to a 30-0 lead with two great passing shots in the fifth, but the German pulled it out after the game had been deuced twice. The American proceeded to squish it again with a love game in the sixth.

The first break came in the ninth game when Cooke scored from deuce with a perfect lob and then raced in and took the game with a superb half-volley. Cooke then took the tenth, 50-love for set 6-4.

The first game of the fourth set was deuced three times before Henkel finally won it. Cooke took the second to 30 and had a 40-15 lead against service in the third but lost the game.

The American got what looked like a vital break in the fifth game when he took Henkel's weak second service and banged it back to take a 3-2 lead. Cooke made it 4-2 in the sixth with constant pressure to the German's backhand corner and he won the seventh with two magnificent backhanders of his own to lead, 5-2.

Henkel still fighting, however, broke Cooke's service in the eighth and won the ninth to make it 5-4. But the American was relentless in the tenth and battered over four straight points to win the game at love, the set 6-4, and the match, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Cambridge, Mass., and Miss Alice Marble of San Francisco, moved into the quarterfinal round of the women's doubles with a 4-6, 6-0, 6-0 decision over Gracyn Wheeler of Santa Monica, Cal., and Miss Somogyi of Roumania.

Later in the day, Riggs and Cooke returned to the courts and gained the semifinal round of the doubles. They defeated George Patrick Hughes and H. Billington of Great Britain, 6-3, 3-6, 6-8, 6-2, 11-9.

Don McNeill of Oklahoma City and England's Kay Stammers lost out in the fifth round of the mixed doubles. They lost to Frank Wilde and Miss N. B. Brown of England, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

LITTLE IS NINE STROKES BEHIND BRITISH CHAMPION

thirteenth, he ran into catastrophe at the fourteenth. Here his drive was badly bunkered. He blasted out but that was all. He finally reached the green in five and took two putts.

Bothered by Gallery. The big American was bothered by the huge gallery of 3000 which crowded the greens. Little said several times had to ask the stewards for more room.

"Well, I didn't do anything sensational, but I'm still in." Little said ruefully. "I certainly wish someone would arrange to hit the ball better. I know I would."

Little hasn't too much cause for optimism, however. The low 44 for Friday's final 36 holes will be picked from the totals of today's and tomorrow's rounds, and the way the British and Scotch were shooting, the American will have to shoot par golf, or close to it, to remain in the field.

PAT CUNNINGHAM, COAST DRIVER, ON MIDGET AUTO RACE CARD AT CAHOKIA

One of the most colorful figures in midget auto racing was added to the list of entries for tomorrow night's program at the Cahokia Speedway with the announcement from Manager Pete Alberts today that Pat Cunningham, diminutive Los Angeles driver, will compete in the Class A engagements.

Cunningham took title honors at the Atlantic Stadium in Los Angeles, and was runner-up in the point standings at Hollywood's Gilmore Stadium during the recent West Coast season.

Other spenders on the card include Wally Zale and Pete Romesvich of Chicago, Sam Hanks and Ronnie Householder of Los Angeles, Pete Nielson of Milwaukee, and St. Louis' Ben Chesney.

Featured events on the program of 10 races are the Koenig Trophy race of 10 laps, and a 40-lap race bringing into contention the class A drivers finishing first, second and third in four qualifying heats of 10 laps each. A class B event of 20 laps will provide a secondary feature.

Lavish Improvements. Arlington Park Jockey Club, Chicago, has spent $140,000 in improvements for its 30-day horse racing meet.

When the "Iron Horse" Broke Down

With Mayor F. H. LaGuardia (standing at the right of the microphone near home plate) speaking for America's baseball fans, Lou Gehrig (left) wept as he acknowledged the tribute paid him by 61,808 fans at Yankee Stadium. Players of the New York and Washington clubs lined up from plate to the pitcher's box. Illness has abruptly terminated Gehrig's long career as a star.

COWRAY'S COLUMN

Championships were held by three members of the Ethiopian race—Joe Louis, John Henry Lewis and Henry Armstrong. Falling eyesight eliminated Lewis while Armstrong voluntarily surrendered the featherweight crown.

In the days of Jack Johnson it was different. Disturbances and even riots due to racial rancor were headlined following the victory of "LBJ" Arthur over what remained of James J. Jeffries, who had quit the ring seven or eight years before.

Matters became so difficult that a Federal law was enacted to prevent the interstate shipment of fight films of the Jeffries-Johnson and all other ring battles.

Fear that a match between Champion Jack Dempsey and the husky Negro Harry Wills would intensify the lingering racial feeling induced Promoter Tex Rickard to refuse to put on the match and later, when attempted in the Mid-West, arrangements fell through there, too.

Dempsey was unjustly made the goat for the failure of this bout and tomorrow's rounds, and the way the British and Scotch were shooting, the American will have to shoot par golf, or close to it, to remain in the field.

After watching Harry fight Jack Sharkey and Paulino Uzcudun and get stopped by both, it seems just as well for Wills that the match never came to a climax.

Louis Has Helped. THE BEHAVIOR and composure of Champion Louis has done much to keep down the more demonstrative among his admirers.

The intensity of feeling against Johnson was due less to his race than to his morals. His subsequent conviction on a Federal white slave charge formed him to flee from the country. It seems fairly safe to say that so-called race prejudice was just a case of Jack Johnson prejudice.

Even though traces of the feeling may linger, the public gradually has become adjusted to the strange sight of Negroes competing with whites in all branches of sports. They are given places on college track and football teams according to their merit.

Many of them win places and glory in national championships. In the local Golden Gloves boxing title fights, 12 out of 16 winners were Negroes; and Mr. Hitler still complains to this day that our U. S. team would not have been victorious at the Berlin Olympics had not Negroes won six firsts and aided in winning another.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS is liberal-minded and has welcomed and cheered successful candidates of several races. We have had American Indians on top in several sports—Jim Thorpe winning the Decathlon at Stockholm and developing into one of the greatest gridiron heroes of all time.

Tom Longboat was an Indian marathon champion; Joek Alexis and Chief Bender great ball players.

The Japanese have repeatedly bested the world and the U. S. as well in swimming, and one was cheered at the Olympic Games when the coveted Marathon victory was won by a Korean. The only race not represented among the world champions of the time is the Malayan race. Give them time, they'll make the grade.

And by that time race prejudice will have disappeared completely from the world—we hope.

Tough Opener. Georgetown's football team opens with Temple, Sept. 29, at Philadelphia in a night game.

WHEN JACK JOHNSON came along and beat first Tommy Burns, the "cheese champion" of his day, for the title, and then eliminated the venerable hulk, Jeffries, a different situation developed.

The intensity of feeling against Johnson was due less to his race than to his morals. His subsequent conviction on a Federal white slave charge formed him to flee from the country. It seems fairly safe to say that so-called race prejudice was just a case of Jack Johnson prejudice.

Even though traces of the feeling may linger, the public gradually has become adjusted to the strange sight of Negroes competing with whites in all branches of sports. They are given places on college track and football teams according to their merit.

Many of them win places and glory in national championships. In the local Golden Gloves boxing title fights, 12 out of 16 winners were Negroes; and Mr. Hitler still complains to this day that our U. S. team would not have been victorious at the Berlin Olympics had not Negroes won six firsts and aided in winning another.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS is liberal-minded and has welcomed and cheered successful candidates of several races. We have had American Indians on top in several sports—Jim Thorpe winning the Decathlon at Stockholm and developing into one of the greatest gridiron heroes of all time.

Tom Longboat was an Indian marathon champion; Joek Alexis and Chief Bender great ball players.

The Japanese have repeatedly bested the world and the U. S. as well in swimming, and one was cheered at the Olympic Games when the coveted Marathon victory was won by a Korean. The only race not represented among the world champions of the time is the Malayan race. Give them time, they'll make the grade.

And by that time race prejudice will have disappeared completely from the world—we hope.

Tough Opener. Georgetown's football team opens with Temple, Sept. 29, at Philadelphia in a night game.

WHEN JACK JOHNSON came along and beat first Tommy Burns, the "cheese champion" of his day, for the title, and then eliminated the venerable hulk, Jeffries, a different situation developed.

The intensity of feeling against Johnson was due less to his race than to his morals. His subsequent conviction on a Federal white slave charge formed him to flee from the country. It seems fairly safe to say that so-called race prejudice was just a case of Jack Johnson prejudice.

PART THREE

SUPREME COURT ABOLISHES STATE JUDICIAL COUNCIL

Judges Repeal Rule of 1934
Which Created Body for Study of Legal Practice and Procedure.

EXPENSE SAID TO BE REASON FOR ACTION

Group's Principal Recommendation for Court Reorganization, Was Rejected by Senate.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, July 5.—
The Judicial Council of Missouri, created by the Missouri Supreme Court in 1934 to make a continuing study of the judicial system, rules of practice and procedure in the State, and to make recommendations for improvements, was abolished today by the Court, through repeal of the rule creating it.

No formal comment was issued by the Court. Elimination of the council was recorded on the minutes with a notation that Rule No.
29 "is hereby repealed." It was understood, however, that the expense of the Court's entire organization for regulation of the practice of law was a principal factor in the move.

Increased expenses of the State Bar Advisory Committee and the disciplinary committees in each of the 38 judicial circuits, all established in 1934, have cut heavily into the operating funds provided by $5 annual enrollment fees paid by attorneys. It was said. These fees have paid the expenses of the committees, disbursement proceedings and costs of the council.

Full-Time Paid Chairman.
Several months ago the Supreme Court changed its practice of appointing an attorney as general chairman of the State Bar Advisory Committee, without compensation, and designated E. W. Jones of Sedalia as general chairman at a salary of $5,000 a year, to devote his full time to the committee's duties.

The council was established in December, 1934, soon after the Supreme Court had declared it had inherent power to regulate the practice of law in Missouri and enact a new system of rules and regulating the bar committees. The council has made periodic reports to the Court and some recommendations to the Legislature.

The principal recommendation by the Council to the 1938 Legislature was for submission to voters of the State of a proposed Constitutional amendment to consolidate the present three Courts of Appeals at St.
Louis, Kansas City and Springfield with the State Supreme Court, and increase the latter to five members, ship from seven to 16 Judges. Under the proposal divisions of the court could sit anywhere in the State. The resolution for submission of the amendment was defeated in the Senate.

Legislative Resolution.
The Legislature, shortly before adjournment, adopted a concurrent resolution inviting the Supreme Court to submit recommendations to the 1941 Legislature to simplify and expedite civil litigation. No comment was forthcoming from the Judges as to whether this request or the fate of the court-consolidation proposal were factors in discontinuance of the council.

Members of the council were:
Frank H. Sullivan, St. Louis, chairman; Julius H. Drucker, St. Louis, secretary; Roy D. Willis, Booneville; Circuit Judge Brown Harris, Kansas City; Circuit Judge E. L.
Alford, Hannibal; Leslie A. Welch,
Kansas City; John R. Baker, Fulton; Frank C. Mann, Springfield, and James A. Finch, Cape Girar-des. Terms for which they were originally appointed would have expired between Jan. 1, 1940, and Jan.
1, 1943. Chairman of the House and Senate Judiciary Committees were ex-officio members.

BOND TAX PLAN 150 YEARS TOO LATE, SAYS LA GUARDIA

Mayer Threatens to Levy on Federal Realty If Municipal Securities Are Taxed.
WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—
Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York opposed today as being "150 years too late" a proposal to place a Federal income tax on interest from state and municipal securities.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES G. ROSS

Senator Vandenberg Appears to Be the Leading Candidate for Republican Presidential Nomination — a Review of the Political Situation on Both Sides.

WASHINGTON, July 5.
RANDOM notes on a political situation that has everybody guessing:

In the view of most observers hereabouts, the leading candidate today for the Republican presidential nomination is Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. Some of the shrewdest strategists in the Democratic high command believe he is the man they will have to beat.

Vandenberg's brilliant and winning fight on the Florida ship canal scheme and, currently, his part in the battle to end the President's devaluation power have brought him into the limelight.

What effect the latter will have on his prospects remains to be seen. As of today, the situation as to silver and devaluation is too confused to permit of any safe prophecy regarding political effects.

The Republicans hope to gain great kudos out of the fight. President Roosevelt has his back up, and when he gets that way he is dangerous to his opponents. Certainly the Republicans who joined hands with the silver bloc to crack down on the devaluation authority will not be allowed to walk away with an easy victory.

So much for Vandenberg: He is in the lead and he has a fine chance of staying there. One must place him in the lead by a process of elimination.

The candidacy of Dewey does not appear to have caught on as his champions had hoped it would.
Something more is needed out of which to manufacture a successful candidacy for President than the glamor accruing from Dewey's racket-busting. He has yet to supply the additional elements.

Meantime, the general Republican attitude toward him must be one of questioning. The break between him and Kenneth Simpson, the New York National Committeeman, has done him no good.
Simpson has become symbolic of the drive within the Republican party to destroy Old Guard control. The quarrel, therefore, between him and Dewey has seemed to align the candidate with the more conservative wing of the party.

This surface appearance may be wholly deceptive; only Mr. Dewey can tell us whether it is or not. He will need to break his silence on national issues, one would think, if he is not to be overshadowed in the race. Silence in these disturbed times is surely not the political asset that it was in the earlier days.

The note should be appended that a renewal of friendly relations between Dewey and Simpson is reported from New York. Perhaps this development—if it has come about—will produce some ginger-ing-up of the Dewey campaign. It needs it.

There are only two others who may be described as first-string Republican candidates: Senator Taft and Gov. Bricker, both of Ohio. Anybody else must be regarded as a dark horse.

Neither man appears, at the moment, to want to get into a knock-down-and-drag-out fight with the other. Such a fight could very easily kill off both of them. Ohio Republican leaders are counseling the election of State delegates to the national convention who will be friendly to both candidates, the idea being to give first one of them the full Ohio support in the convention, and then if he fails to make the grade, the other. A sort of gentleman's agreement to this effect is being worked up in Ohio.
If it is carried out, it seems likely that the delegation will go first for Senator Taft.

The Republican situation in Ohio, with a Governor and a Senator in the lists, has striking points of similarity to that on the Democratic side in Missouri, where "favorite-son" support could go either to Senator Clark or Gov. Stark.

Vandenberg, Dewey, Taft, Bricker. These are the leading four. If you want a fifth—as did a picture editor the other day—add Bruce Barton of New York as a long shot or, as a longer, La-Guardia because anything can happen in politics, nowadays.

As for the Democrats, it can only be repeated that prophecy at this stage, with nobody knowing what the President is going to do, is subject to heavy discount. Having prepared this cushion for himself, the writer ventures—again under prodding from an editor—that the best present prospects for the nomination are Roosevelt, Garner, Hull, Farley and McNutt. He declines to say in what order they should be placed.

Roosevelt? The possibility of a third-term nomination cannot be dismissed so long as the President omits to take himself out of the running. Assuming he does not want the nomination, the reason why he has not is that he himself will not in the near future, is two-fold. In the first place, he does not choose to weaken his hold on the party. That is an obvious reason and probably it would control his decision in any case. In the second place—by plausible surmise—he feels it is to the advantage of his foreign policy to keep the European dictators guessing as to his intentions.

One guess as to what he will do in the end continues to be as good as another. The question that gets reporters sent to the corner when asked at the White House press conferences was put by the writer
the other day to one of the President's advisers. "One day," was the reply, "I think he is a candidate—and the next day I am equally sure he is not." That expresses the state of mind of a good many observers in Washington.

U. S. INDEPENDENCE DECLARATION AGAIN SHOWN ON FOURTH

Visitors See Document on Holiday for First Time in 15 Years.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—
The Declaration of Independence was on display yesterday for the first July 4 in 15 years. Employees of the Library of Congress agreed to keep the building open so visitors could see it.

"More and more we notice great crowds come from all over the country at this time of year," said Martin Roberts, chief assistant librarian. "For many it's the trip of a lifetime, and we can't very well keep them out."

There is a belief in some quarters here that the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution soon may be moved to the archives building down Pennsylvania avenue. Herbert Putnam, who has just retired as Librarian of Congress, refused to let them be transferred while he was in office.
Whether his successor, Archibald MacLeish, holds a different opinion may be disclosed shortly after he begins work.

NEW ALPHABETICAL AGENCIES

FWA, FLA and FSA Head List; Change in WPA Name.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—
The alphabetical roster of Government agencies has some additions this week. Result of President Roosevelt's reorganization program.

Topping the list of new agencies are the FWA, FLA and FSA, the Federal Works Loan, and Security agencies. Their heads will be called administrators. The WPA will retain its same initials, but instead of being called the Works Progress Administration will be known as the Work Projects Administration. Col. F. C. Harrington, army engineer who is expected to remain at the WPA helm, will be a commissioner henceforth instead of administrator.

EFFORT TO USE AAA IN 1940 CHARGED

Senator Wiley Says That Is Why New Dealers Oppose Hatch Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—
Senator Wiley (Rep., Wisconsin), accused "the so-called New Dealers" today of hampering enactment of the Hatch bill against pernicious political activities because, he said, they wanted "to make the AAA a political force in the next election."

Wiley said in a Senate speech he was prepared to produce information indicating that in June "employees of this Government went forth and started to do to the AAA what was done to the WPA several years ago."

"Perhaps," he shouted, "that is why the Hatch bill is having so much trouble in the other house."

The measure, passed by the Senate, was amended in House committees last week to eliminate a section which would have prevented Government officials from taking an active part in political campaigns. Senator Hatch (Dem.),
New Mexico, its author, told the Senate last week that the bill had been emasculated by the committee action.

New Maneuver in House.
Representative Michener (Rep.),
Michigan, said today the House would be asked to bar such Federal officeholders as District Attorneys and tax collectors from an "active part in political management or in political campaigns."

That language, struck from the Hatch "pernicious political activities" bill by the House Judiciary committee, will be offered as an amendment. Michener said, either by himself or some colleague on the committee.

The bill is expected to come before the House next week or shortly afterward. Senator Hatch expressed strong approval of Michener's plan, saying "I believe," Hatch added, "that a majority in the House favors carrying out the objectives of the original bill."

President Roosevelt said a few weeks ago that everyone favored those Federal employees not already so restricted by Civil Service rules from attending party conventions as delegates, and from making stump speeches and from managing political campaigns.

In addition, the proposal forbids administrative and supervisory employees from using "official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or of affecting the results thereof."
The penalty for any of these activities is immediate removal from office.

Provisions of Measure.
Among other things, the Hatch bill would impose fines up to $1,000 and prison sentences up to one year for:

Coercion by anyone of a voter.
Promising a Federal job or other benefit for political support.
Depriving a person of any Federal job or benefit because of race, color, creed or lawful political activity.

Soliciting funds for political purposes from persons entitled to any benefit from the Federal Government.

Disclosing for political purposes a list of those receiving compensation or benefits from the Federal Government.

Using any part of a relief or public works appropriation in such a way as to coerce or restrain any person in exercising the right to vote.

Jersey Bund Members Ignore Anti-Uniform Law

UNIFORMED members of the German-American Bund parading in uniform at Camp Nordland near Andover, N. J., yesterday. August Klapprott, camp manager, said the uniforms were made in America for members of an organization incorporated in America and therefore were not subject to a new New Jersey law against the wearing of uniforms similar to those worn in foreign nations.

BUND MEMBERS IN UNIFORM DESPITE NEW JERSEY LAW

They Say Costumes Do Not Come Under New Law; No Provision for Enforcement.

ANDOVER, N. J., July 5 (AP).—
A new State law notwithstanding, 75 members of the German-American Bund marched in the uniforms of the "Ordnungsdienst" at the bund's Camp Nordland yesterday.

Also in the bund's Independence day parade were boys and girls, the boys uniformed in khaki though the girls wore varied costumes.

August Klapprott, camp manager and president of the New Jersey German-American Bund Auxiliary, said the bund members would continue to wear the uniforms in the belief that they did not come within the scope of the statute forbidding display of the apparel and insignia of foreign organizations. The uniforms, Klapprott said, were made in America, of American material, by American workers and economic resources in time of need.

THIRD FATAL CRASH IN ITALIAN MILITARY AVIATION IN WEEK

Lieutenant Killed in Collision of Army Planes, Bringing Death
Total for Period to 15.

ROME, July 5 (AP).—A communique today disclosed the third fatal crash in Italian military aviation in a week.

Lieut. Giancarlo Bonifacio was killed when his plane crashed following the collision of two army planes over Caselle. He tried to bring his damaged plane down but it collapsed near earth. The other plane managed to land without casualties.

This brought the week's death total to 15. Nine army flyers were killed June 30 when two planes collided in maneuvers near Viterbo and crashed. Five naval aviators were burned to death July 3 when a seaplane crashed near Cagliari, Sardinia.

Japan's national mobilization law, adopted in March, 1938, gives the Government authority to draft all the empire's manpower and economic resources in time of need.

BRAZIL IN $18,000,000 OIL DEAL WITH MEXICO

Purchase of 5,500,000 Barrels Annually Is to Be for Cash.

MEXICO CITY, July 5 (AP).—
Conclusion of an $18,000,000 deal with the Mexican Government petroleum agency was announced by Santo Vahls, representative of the Brazilian firm of Correa and Castro, yesterday.

Under the agreement, he said,
Mexico will sell approximately 5,500,000 barrels of oil annually to Brazil along with asphalt and refined petroleum products.

The deal was expected to result in trade far in excess of the $18-000,000 figure annually because, Vahls said, it "naturally will open new means of commercial exchange between Mexico and Brazil." He emphasized that it was a cash and not a barter transaction. Brazil naturally hoped to sell Mexico whatever products she might need, it was explained.

'French Without Tears' Played Smoothly by Actors' Group in St. Louis County.

THE second Civic Theater comedy of the season, which had its first of six performances last night at the playhouse on Warson road, St. Louis County, is another of those shallow English creations

Set in a small seaside villa on the west coast of France, "French Without Tears," tells of a group of English youths who are studying the language with a native tutor in his home. Recurrent jokes are made over the inept pronunciations and syntax and the tutor's exasperation so that those in the audience who know French get more out of the play than do the less educated, or think they do, anyway.

But that is hardly the point. The point is that the lives of three young men are complicated by the presence of an extremely active and amorous young woman called, appropriately, Diana. As they express it, she is continually giving this or that one the "old green

YOUTH BOLTERS BLAME MRS. F. D. ROOSEVELT

In Telegram to Her They Say She Has Betrayed Trust Placed in Her.

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP).—The Joint Committee for the Defense of American Ideals, comprising leaders of 21 of the 23 organizations which bolted the American Youth Congress in a dispute over Communism, accused Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today of disloyalty to American youth.

In a telegram sent to the President's wife, the committee asked her to "join with us in a counter-offensive to safeguard American institutions," and said the Congress "brazenly and overwhelmingly placed its stamp of approval on atheistic Communism, whose program is to overthrow American constitutional government and substitute therefore Moscow Stalinism."

In a further report signed by the committee chairman, Patrick J. O'Shea, Mrs. Roosevelt was criticized for "her very acceptance of the innocuous and evasive statement of the principles of American Youth Congress creed."

Mrs. Roosevelt spoke before the Congress Monday night after the 23 organizations had withdrawn.

Dictatorships Denounced.

The congress unanimously adopted a resolution yesterday denouncing "all forms of dictatorship, regardless of whether they be Communist, Fascist, Nazi or any other type."

Passage of the resolution reversed a loud voice vote by which the congress Monday rejected an amendment to its creed condemning Communism along with Fascism and Naziism, and caused some representatives to bolt.

The second measure was criticized by the bolting minority as "an empty, face-saving gesture," because "it will not be accompanied by appropriate action removing the control and leadership from Communists and 'fellow-travelers'."

The resolution was defended by James B. Carey, chairman of the Resolutions Committee and secretary of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Carey said:

"The question was, could American youth be stampeded into doing something under outside pressure and outside of the proper procedure? ... I believe the Congress has answered those who tried to use it as a stepping stone to their personal advantage."

Jack McMichael of the National Intercollegiate Christian Council of Atlanta, Ga., was elected chairman unanimously after the name of Carey was withdrawn by delegates of the United Automobile Workers of America. McMichael succeeds William D. Hinckley of St. Joseph, Mo.

Roosevelt Favored in 1940.

President Roosevelt polled an overwhelming 904 votes as favorite for 1940. Mayor F. H. LaGuardia was second with 38 votes and Thomas E. Dewey third with 56.

On the question of what they would do in case of war 124 delegates said they would refuse to fight, while the largest group, 464, said they would volunteer if invasion threatened.

The majority voted in favor of lowering voting age to 18, creation of a Federal loan fund up to $500,000,000 to aid persons between 16 and 30 to pay college fees or establish homes, and provision for a Federal trades-training program.

Vice-chairmen elected were: J. Carrel Morris, Christian Youth Council of North America, Montclair, N. J.; James B. Carey, the CIO secretary, Philadelphia; Mary Jeanne McKay, National Student Federation, Miami, Fla.; Louise Meyerovitz, Young Judea, New York City; Edward E. Strong, Southern Negro Youth Conference, Chicago; James V. Krakora, Czechoslovak Societies of America, Chicago, and a seventh to be designated later for farm groups.

Joseph Cadden of New York was re-elected executive secretary and Harriet Pickens of the National Business and Professional Council of the Y. W. C. A., treasurer.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Praise of Youth Groups Disturbs Legion Head.

BOSTON, July 5 (AP).—The Boston Post says today that Stephen F. Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion, has expressed himself in an interview as "disappointingly disturbed" over Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's praise of the American Youth Congress which he criticized for its "pink complexion."

Chadwick is quoted as saying he "observed the statement of Mrs. Roosevelt" in praise of objectives of the Youth Congress in which she said, "Nothing finer has come out of any organization."

Commenting that the Congress failed "to condemn Communism and other isms which would destroy us as free people," Chadwick is quoted as saying "I am most disappointedly disturbed by Mrs. Roosevelt's endorsement of their position."

SCIENTISTS PUZZLED OVER EXPLODING STARS

Some Supernovae Found to Reach Brilliance Billion Times That of Sun.

PASADENA, Cal., July 5 (AP).—Dr. Walter Baade and associates have found evidence of exploding stars which reach a brilliance one billion times that of the sun.

He was on his way to Paris today to tell a world gathering of astronomers what has been learned here about these stars which suddenly puff out to many times their original size and become the brightest objects in the known universe. Then gradually they fade.

"Investigation of the spectra of this type of novae at Mount Wilson Observatory fully confirmed the view that they form an entirely new class," Dr. Baade disclosed just before departing.

"Supernovae are a much rarer phenomenon than common novae. The latter average about 70,000 times the luminosity of the sun and are observable with our present optical means only in the nearest extra-galactic systems."

"The supernovae displayed a distinguishing new feature. Their maximum luminosity was comparable with that of the entire galaxies or star systems in which they appeared, giving them a mean luminosity of 50,000,000 suns."

Dr. Fritz Zwicky began a search for supernovae with an 18-inch telescope at Mount Palomar in 1938 and so far has found nine. Check of photographic plates at MOUNT WILSON AND OTHER OBSERVATORIES HAVE BROUGHT THE TOTAL KNOWN TO 30. DR. ZWICKY FINDS THE SUPERNOVAE. DR. BAADÉ AND R. MINKOWSKI STUDY THEM WITH THE 100-INCH TELESCOPE.

"The light curves on 'the whole' are closely similar to those of common novae," said Dr. Baade, "except that the maximum brightness of supernovae lasts for several days. The decline is rather steep for the first 30 days."

"The most extraordinary feature of a supernova is its spectrum, the interpretation of which is a mystery at present. One of the most surprising results of spectroscopic investigation is a complete lack of individuality among supernovae, as far as their spectra are concerned."

Astronomers are unwilling yet to theorize on what causes the catastrophic release of energy evidenced by an exploding star.

Dr. Baade will attend the Paris conference on novae, supernovae and white dwarfs July 17 to 23.

REME COURT ADVANCES NICK AND WESTON CASES

Court Bench Issues Order to Hear Ouster Actions in the September Term.

St. Louis, July 5.—Two cases involving the ouster of John Nick and Clyde A. Weston from control of the movie operators' union in St. Louis will be heard by Missouri Supreme Court in the September term, under an order issued by the Court today advancing the cases on the docket.

The case is the appeal by Nick and Weston from the order of Circuit Judge Ernest F. Oakley appointing a temporary receiver for the union. The other involves the successful attempt by William F. Hagan and other members of the union, who intervened in the case on the side of Nick, to compel Judge Oakley to accept an appeal which would have superseded receivership and returned Nick and Weston to control pending the outcome of their appeal.

In granting the motion of counsel Nick and Canavan to advance cases, the Supreme Court acted under a statute which requires that cases of this type be heard as soon as possible.

Smiling Humans Who Insist All Is for the Best

Humorist Says Chronic Optimists Lack Courage to Face Reality.

By Elsie Robinson

HUMAN cussedness certainly uses some curious cover-ups! Take these chronic optimists, for example. That is—You take them! Personally, I've just about enough admiration for and faith in a Professional Pollyanna as in a button rattle. A rattle is simple and obvious. There's no pretense about him—you can see his motives in a glance. But a smiling human who insists that all is for the best even though everything's busting loose an inch in his nose, is different. There's something finer than a deliberately useful human being who tries to be the best of things and resists the old Man Trouble get down. But such a smiling mask has nothing whatever to do with the tactics of the Happy Little and that refuses to see anything but the silver lining to the cloud. A smile in a condescending pique is your well-justified alarm.

Yes—I admit such severity makes me seem like superior souls, which is exactly what they intend to do.

But they're not superior souls. They're just a bunch of smart-alecks who are using universal every to publicize their point and deny the misery around them because they haven't the gumption to admit it—and do something about it!

Honest, courageous citizens don't around looking for the silver lining to the cloud. They get busy and eliminate the cloud! They don't say, "All well... everything will be all right!"

They admit, with heat and shame that all isn't well! That, to the contrary, an infinite number of things are foul and cruel and savagely stupid. And having admitted this, they get out and get on! They smile—but they take that smile into the front line trenches. They hope... and pray... and believe. But they don't expect God to answer their prayers, or back their belief until they themselves, have done their ultimate darndest to put things right!

Once, in our human ignorance, we considered such an attitude as dangerous... believed that all our offerings were "the will of God" to be borne with fortitude. So millions died, needlessly, from bubonic plague, smallpox, diphtheria, poverty and crime. Then men, such as Pasteur, who were truly reverent and brave, dared to believe that God was not a cruel tyrant who put his children to the torture; but rather, a benevolent Father who wished them to be healthy and happy, and had given them brains and backbones to achieve that end.

Then began a new conception of courage. Dimly we began to realize that the old standards of Meek designation and unquestioning faith were neither right nor rightous. God didn't create men to be resigned and unquestioning. He created them to be thinking, battling souls. He created them to doubt, defend and fight the evil results of their own ignorance, laziness, cowardice and brutality.

So, today, when anyone says to me, "Stop worrying! Everything is for the best!" my invariable answer is, "You've stopped worrying for three excellent reasons: You haven't the courage to face the truth or the spunk to fight for a better world... or even enough human love and love to make you willing to scrap! But as for me, I'm going right on worrying, and struggling until it does some good!"

"Everything isn't for the best. All these horrors, of which we read, are preventable. They are our fault—not God's... and it's up to us to cure them! So yank that mask of optimism from your cowardly soul... and put up or shut up!"

That's my answer to these Smiling Pollyannas. Will it do them any good? Probably not. But it certainly relieves my chest!

Trial Without Jury

By James Ronald

CHAPTER NINE.

"HALL I—shall I tell the expressman to have your bags sent up?" Peter blurted. "Or shall I get the taxi? It's rather a long way to the house you know."

"It's no distance at all. We shall walk. Mimms will take one suitcase and you children must manage the others. Well, what are we waiting for?"

Struggling with the luggage, the children and Miss Mimms trailed along at the heels of Miss Osborne who kept chiding them for not being more lively company. Yet when Marjory ventured a shy remark, Aunt Octavia snatched at the words almost before they were out of the girl's mouth and rebuked the child.

"Suddenly a small yellow car roared by, disappearing around a corner in a cloud of dust and exhaust fumes."

"Was not that your brother Michael?" Miss Osborne demanded sharply.

Silence. She repeated the question.

"I—I don't know," mumbled Peter. "I—I wasn't looking."

"Does your brother have a car?" she insisted, pursing her lips.

"We—e—ell, yes."

"Indeed! Then I have no doubt it was Michael. I shall have something to say to that young man when we meet!"

Edith Osborne was waiting in the hall to receive her sister-in-law. She looked cool and very lovely in a pale yellow frock.

"I'm so glad to see you, Octavia. You're looking very well."

"What pretty speeches you always make, my dear Edith," said Miss Osborne, presenting a withered cheek to be kissed. "A new dress, I see. What a lot of clothes you manage to afford!"

"It's only a simple little frock made on my sewing-machine. I hope you like it."

"I must admit it looks quite smart, although not very serviceable; and hardly suited to a person of your years. Stephen, I presume, is not yet home from his office?"

"Stephen... No, he—he didn't."

SYNOPSIS

Two misadventures have befallen the otherwise happy Osborne family within 24 hours. First, its head, Stephen, age 50, lost his job; then, the next morning, a telegram from Aunt Octavia announces the visit that day of this rich but decidedly unpopular relative. Mr. and Mrs. Osborne urge their five children "to be nice to her."

The door to the kitchen opened, a head appeared, but it bobbed back in a flash. Not quickly enough, however, to deceive the gimlet eyes of Miss Octavia Osborne.

"Ah, Michael!"

So the boy entered, pink to the tips of his ears.

"Oh, hello, Aunt."

"I cannot commend you on your manners, young man. Do you know no better than to pass your relatives on the road without recognition?"

And was it necessary for her to drive past at such a speed as to throw up a positive fog of smoke and dust?"

"I'm—I'm sorry," he stammered. "I didn't notice you until I'd passed."

"Then it was you," she said dryly. "I thought so, but I couldn't be sure."

Michael was cold with fury. How dare she lay traps for him before she had been in the house two minutes? Miss Osborne eyed him from head to foot with a disapproving air that made him feel like a naughty child of six.

"Are your hands always as grimy as that?" she asked dispassionately.

The boy looked down at them.

"Sorry," he muttered. "I'll go and wash."

Relieved at the opportunity of escaping, he took the stairs two at a time. Miss Osborne sighed and closed her eyes.

"I can't bear noise. It gives me a headache."

SHE'S started already, Edith thought desperately, and she'll go on like this for seven days.

Seven whole days! Every day!

than to greet his elder sister. Excuse me while I go to my room for a change."

Less than 10 minutes later, Octavia returned, dressed in severely neat black with just touches of prim white.

The door to the kitchen opened, a head appeared, but it bobbed back in a flash. Not quickly enough, however, to deceive the gimlet eyes of Miss Octavia Osborne.

of tobacco and Miss Osborne can't bear it!"

"Then I've a good mind to shut the window and let her have the full benefit of it," said Hannah grimly.

"Don't you fret, dear. There's a fresh breeze blowing and the smell will be gone before your precious mistress has a chance to notice it. You look all in. Come downstairs and I'll make you something hot to drink."

Meanwhile, in the living-room Miss Octavia was taking inventory. She did not appear to look directly at anything, but not even the minutest trifle escaped her. With in two minutes of entering the room she could have recited from memory its entire contents.

The inkpot on the carpet which Edith thought was camouflaged by a chair; the neatly repaired tear in one of the curtains, almost hidden by a fold, the cracked vase, so cunningly glued, which stood on the mantelpiece with the crack turned to the wall; Miss Osborne spotted them all in one sweeping glance. She was looking for some evidence of extravagance on which she could comment, but it was denied her.

Her Devonport and chairs had seen over 20 years of hard service and Miss Osborne recognized from her previous visit the gay chintzes—bright and freshly laundered—with which they were covered.

"What masses of flowers!" she exclaimed. "How can you afford them? I'm sure I couldn't."

"They come from the garden. Stephen works very hard in it, you know."

Miss Osborne walked to the window and looked out. Halfway down the garden her brother was standing with a trowel in his hand, looking into the distance.

"He isn't working very hard at the moment," she commented dryly. "Dear me, how worried he looks! Really, he looks older and less robust every time I see him. How thin he is! And what a dreadful stoop he's getting. His hair is going grey very rapidly."

Miss Osborne turned suddenly. "You didn't say why he isn't at his office. I thought he always went in on Saturday mornings?"

Edith hesitated. If she evaded the issue now, Octavia would be furious at the deception later; while if she told the bald truth it would precipitate the moment when she must beg Octavia to help them.

"What are you frowning about?"

"What are you frowning about?"

"What are you frowning about?"

"What are you frowning about?"

"What are you frowning about?"

"What are you frowning about?"

asked Miss Osborne sharply. "And why don't you answer me? Something is wrong, I suppose. What is it?"

"Stephen has lost his job."

"Has he, indeed? Well!"

Although she tried to make her voice sound calm and impersonal, Octavia could not keep out of it a note of extreme satisfaction. This was the moment for which she had been waiting for 24 years!
